IRISH FIGHT OVER SECESSION PLAN

S. A. Employees Will Get $500,000 Christmas Gift

BONUSES AND PAY BOOSTS PLANNED

Dividends Also Will Be Distributed Here by Corporations

Santa Anans will receive a half-million dollar Christmas present from local retail, manufacturing and financial firms in bonuses, wage increases, dividends and interest payments, a survey indicated today.

In addition to about 10 firms which were ready today to announce definite plans for bonuses and dividends, there were a score of others which had plans under way but not yet ready to announce.

Don G. Dearth, manager of the Santa Ana Iron Works, announced that his firm is granting wage increases averaging 8 per cent to all employees, effective Jan. 1.

Two Weeks' Pay
A Christmas bonus to 42 employees of the J. C. Penney company store here was announced by F. A. Jones, manager. All employees who have been with the company for more than a year will receive two weeks' extra pay. Those employed for shorter periods will be given proportionate amounts, Jones said.

The payment is part of a program under which 25,000 employees in all J. C. Penney stores will get Christmas bonuses.

Santa Ana Building and Loan associations will make an interest payment of approximately $20,000 on investment certificates Jan. 1, and in addition expects to declare the usual 4 per cent dividend on stock Feb. 1, it was announced.

Mage Increase
Bank of America employees who receive less than $200 per month will be given a bonus equal to one-half month's pay. Those who have worked less than a year will be given bonuses in proportion to the time they have worked.

First National bank directors plan to meet Dec. 29 to declare a stock dividend amounting to $20,000.

One firm employing a large number of men has voted a 10 per cent increase in wages beginning Jan. 1, but for business reasons asked that its name be withheld.

F. W. Woolworth company will give a bonus to all employees who have been with the firm one year or more, but the amount has not been announced. As in previous years the bonus will be scaled according to length of service with the firm.

Twenty employees of the Sears, Roebuck and company store here will receive bonuses in amounts ranging from two weeks' pay to half a week's pay depending upon length of service. Employees who have worked six months or more will participate.

Bridges Takes Strike East
NEW YORK. (AP)—The seamen's strike strategy committee announced today that Harry Bridges, leader of the strike on the Pacific coast, will come to New York next week to address a series of meetings.

He will speak before striking seamen in Boston Tuesday, in Baltimore Wednesday, and in Philadelphia and New York Thursday.

Merriam Keeps Hands Clean
SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam will take no part in the selection of an assembly speaker for the fifty-second session as long as the Democrats decide on a member of their own party.

"The Democrats (which have a majority) will be in charge of the assembly and they have every right to name their own man," the governor said.

If a Republican, however, is advanced as a Democrat-supported candidate, the executive said he would indicate whom he would sponsor.

Merriam was asked to comment when it was reported Assemblyman Earl Desmond, Democrat of Sacramento county, would seek the speakership with Republican support over William Mosley Jones, Montebello, reputed choice of U. S. Senator William G. McAdoo.

The executive predicted a short session, saying his legislative program, in essence, is "no more appropriations; no more taxes."

An announcement of the program, which includes an oil bill authorizing state drilling of its own pools, or leases to private companies if more advantageous, will be made public soon.

Lays Death Trap

Lagunan's Film Got Gangster

By KENNETH ADAMS

Millions of people know Arthur Caesar as a famous author and scenario writer, but few know him as the man responsible for the death of the infamous gangster and killer, John Dillinger.

The public enemy actually was slain by bullets from the guns of G-men, it is true, but down in Laguna Beach where Caesar has made his home for the past six years, they give Caesar credit for trapping the notorious slayer.

It was a motion picture adapted from a story by Arthur Caesar, "Manhattan Melodrama," which drew Dillinger to the little theater in Chicago where government agents found him and filled him full of lead when he tried to shoot it out with them.

Dillinger, residents of Laguna say, was attracted to the show because of the fact that "Manhattan Melodrama" was playing at the time and because it was a dramatic gangster picture, the kind of film that the public enemy would be sure to go see.

Just before he died, Dillinger saw Clark Gable in the role of the (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

BEGIN DRIVE BEACH CRASH TAKES LIFE

Industrial Leaders in Session Hear Word On Recovery

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A drive for a modified NRA took form today within the Council for Industrial Progress.

Business men and labor leaders who gathered at the invitation of George L. Berry sought in a closed meeting to put their recommendations for legislation into writing.

Berry is the President's coordinator for industrial cooperation. Jurisdiction over wages and hours, standards of fair competition and establishment of a permanent "advisory economic council" were the foremost topics.

Secretary Perkins in an address today appealed to the industrialists present to increase employment as much as possible, especially for older and unskilled workers.

She said the labor department's employment service placed 9,000,000 in jobs between July 1, 1934, and last June 30.

RIOTING ENDS IN FATALITY
CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—One man was killed and about 36 persons were injured during rioting today outside the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, where a strike has been in progress since last Monday.

Police said they believed the man was killed when fire engines, responding to a false alarm at the Sun plant, ran through a crowd of several thousand pickets and sympathizers outside the gates of the main entrance. Many of the injured asserted they had been run down by fire engines.

Rioting broke out after non-strikers attempted to get through picket lines surrounding the plant.

Husbands Quit; Wives Run City
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A woman mayor and a woman city commissioner held office here today because their husbands resigned yesterday and insisted the wives take over the jobs.

FASCIST SHELLS BLAST MADRID
MADRID. (AP)—Insurgent shells crashed into the heart of the Spanish capital today as Fascist and Socialist batteries blasted away in a long range artillery duel.

A heavy insurgent infantry drive on the western front from Montol to Pozuelo was cracked, the government reported, in a bitter three-hour struggle.

The Fascist attack climaxed the fifth week of the siege of Madrid. Over the capital, insurgent pursuit planes scattered leaflets calling for the city's surrender, while government planes took off to bomb the Illescas railway station just south of Madrid.

President's Son To Have Operation
BOSTON. (AP)—An operation will be performed upon Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President, next week to cure an attack of acute sinus infection.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited her son at the Massachusetts General hospital yesterday. She returned to New York after Dr. George Loring Tobey, Jr., said her son was not in a satisfactory condition yet to undergo the operation.

Business in S. A. Takes Big Jump
Retail Sales Up 50 Per Cent in 1935, Report of Census Shows

Figures showing that Santa Ana retail business increased 50 per cent from 1933 to 1935 were released here today by the U. S. bureau of the census.

Retailers at the same time said business in 1936 would show an even more spectacular increase, pointing out that business this year has gained more than in any year since 1929. Several lines of business are said to be more active than in "pre-depression" days.

A preliminary report of the census of business conducted in 1935, the tabulation carries figures obtained from 597 stores here, showing a sales volume of $15,717,000 for 1935. Business leaders today expressed the opinion business here actually netted more than that amount.

Payrolls Increase
Sales in 1935, as reported by the census bureau, compared with sales of $10,313,000 in 583 stores studied in 1933.

Payrolls in the same period showed an increase from $1,258,000 to $1,638,000, and an increase in the number of full-time employees from 979 in 1933 to 1665 in 1935.

Businesses studied included 141 food stores with sales of $3,353,000 and payrolls of $244,000; 60 eating and drinking places with sales of $608,000 and payrolls of $111,000; seven general merchandise stores with $1,712,000 sales and $206,000 payrolls; 67 apparel stores with $1,472,000 sales and $165,000 payrolls.

Auto Business
There were 79 automotive businesses with sales of $3,668,000 and payrolls of $335,000; 75 filling stations with sales of $349,000 and $81,000 in payrolls; 33 firms dealing in furniture, radios and household goods, with sales of $1,139,000 and payrolls of $193,000; 27 lumber, building and hardware firms with sales of $1,372,000 and $171,000 in payrolls.

In 14 drug stores sales were reported as $635,000 and payrolls $51,000; seven liquor stores reported $87,000 sales and $7000 payrolls; and 87 other stores reported $922,000 in sales and $74,000 in payrolls.

New British King Takes Throne in Speedy Rites

RULER PICKS GEORGE VI AS NAME

Edward Gives Farewell Talk on Air Before Leaving England

By FRANK H. KING

LONDON. (AP)—The greatest empire on earth gave up Edward VIII as king today and placed his oldest brother, Albert Frederick Arthur George, on its throne.

The new king today chose officially the name of George VI.

In three swift hours, the houses of commons and lords approved the abdication of the 32-year sovereign who chose marriage to a twice-divorced American instead of his ancient crown.

Then, with quick precision, a royal commission gave royal assent to the act. At 1:52 p. m. (5:52 a. m., Santa Ana time), Edward the Eighth ceased to reign.

Edward Leaves Tonight
At that very moment the quiet Duke of York became King of England and the Dominions Beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, Defender of the Faith.

Tonight, perhaps by British warship, plain Edward Windsor is expected to cross the channel to France, to be near Wallis Simpson, the woman he loves.

It was reported he would sail at midnight from Dover. His destination was not disclosed.

First, at 10 p. m. (2 p. m., Santa Ana time), he was to talk by radio to his people.

Tomorrow afternoon heralds will proclaim his brother king—probably as George VI—with medieval rote. But actually, Albert Frederick Arthur George became king with the giving of the royal assent by a commission composed of Lords Onslow, Denman and the Earl of Stanhope—just as Edward took the reign when his father, George V, breathed his dying breath at Sandringham last Jan. 20.

Await Ratification
Parliament, in session exactly two hours and 52 minutes before the throne changed hands, adjourned immediately upon notification that the royal assent had been given.

Commons will meet at 2:45 p. m. tomorrow to take the oath of allegiance to the new king. On Monday, the sovereign's forty-first birthday, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin will present a message from him.

Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Irish Free State will act independently, through their parliaments, on the abdication, as autonomous units of the empire.

The first minister told parliament today that the governments of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa had commended the royal assent.

$70,000 LAND DEAL MADE

Sale of a valuable piece of orange and walnut property for $70,000 was reported today.

According to the reports, the deal involves 56 acres of valencias and walnuts near the site of the old West Orange depot on North Flower street.

It was said that the purchaser of the property is J. Roy Smith, Laguna Beach, big orange operator in the San Juan Capistrano district, and that the deal now is in escrow.

Former owner of the property, it was reported, is Charles C. L. Leslie.

The deal is one of the biggest real estate transactions in Orange county for some time.

Queen Mother 'Deeply Touched'
LONDON. (AP)—Queen Mary, in a message to the British people, said tonight she was "deeply touched by the sympathy which has surrounded me at this time of anxiety."

Guard Is Keeping Wally Secluded

CANNES, France. (AP)—Guarded by gendarmes and Scotland Yard officers, Mrs. Wallis Simpson watched from her Riviera seclusion today the climax of the empire crisis her romance with Edward VIII precipitated. Twice divorced and now affianced to England's abdicating monarch, she made no plans to leave the refuge of her friend's villa and French officials confirmed statements that she expected at the Riviera soon.

Members of the villa staff said there has been no changes in Mrs. Simpson's plans to remain at Cannes at least until Christmas.

The meeting of the abdicating British monarch and the 40-year-old American woman whose attachment for each other has shaken the British empire, is not likely to take place until public interest has quieted, it was believed here.

As to their marriage, British society circles on the Riviera were not inclined to discuss it until Mrs. Simpson's divorce becomes absolute next April 27.

Mrs. Simpson's immediate reaction to word that the king had abdicated was evidently one of happiness that the king had chosen her at the cost of his throne; but there was no official statement of that effect.

Members of the household confined themselves to saying that she remained in good spirits.

To Play Werner 'Records' Today
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Arrangements were made for the playing today in a Hollywood film studio of records the state declares bear conversations which took place in the offices of Mrs. Helen Werner, former Los Angeles political "queen."

Mrs. Werner, her husband, Edwin P. Werner, and Joseph Weinblatt are being tried on liquor license bribe charges.

Children Told of Edward's Romance
LONDON. (AP)—In the "children's hour" program of the British Broadcasting corporation, England's boys and girls tonight were told of the romance of Edward VIII and Wallis Warfield Simpson.

A statement from the semi-government monopoly said the speaker, Commander Stephen King-Hall, "in frank and simple words told the whole story of the romance. He explained what morganatic marriage was, and why the king's ministers opposed such a marriage."

More Sacks Than Santa!
Of course, Santa's sack of toys is magic. As fast as the old gentleman takes one gift out, another rolls into its place. And he has all kinds of things. As we look over the many advertisements in today's paper, we are struck by the comparison. The stores are offering all kinds of holiday articles . . . but wide selection of gifts won't last forever. The moral is: Do your Christmas shopping early and use the ads to help make out your shopping list.

DE VALERA IS OPPOSED TO MONARCHY

Seeks Severing of All Tie With Britain

DUBLIN, Irish Free State. (AP)—The Irish Free State government overrode labor opposition in the dial eireann tonight in the first test vote on a measure to remove royal influence from the dominions' domestic affairs.

Former King Edward remained technical ruler of the Irish Free State as the parliament continued vigorous debate on President Eamon De Valera's bills to abolish the office of governor general and conduct Free State internal affairs without reference to the monarch.

Vote 71 to 53
The test vote—won by the government with a result of 71 to 53—came on a government motion to invoke rigid rules to hasten passage of the constitutional bills.

The gaunt De Valera earlier had told the members of the Irish parliament he had not consulted the other dominions on his action.

Ratification Included
"This is a matter which affects ourselves alone," he added, in paraphrase of the old Sin Fein war cry.

The hall was crowded with members and spectators for the special session, called to ratify Edward's abdication and the accession of his brother, the former Duke of York.

This ratification is included in De Valera's bill, but the measure would confine the Free State's use of the king's name to foreign affairs, and make the Free State completely independent of Great Britain otherwise.

Cosgrave Opposed
W. T. Cosgrave, leader of the United Ireland party, and the labor leader, William Norton, led the opposition attack on the De Valera plan.

Norton opened the debate with the assertion the legislation, on which De Valera is determined to complete action tomorrow, "is being rushed through with indecent haste."

It was Cosgrave who asked De Valera whether he intended to sever all relations with the British commonwealth of nations, and whether he had consulted the other members of that commonwealth.

The president replied he had not had time to consult the dominions, but that he had informed the British government of his intentions.

President's View
"Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have agreed to certain action in the present position," he continued, "but the Free State government was not prepared to give assent to the idea that the British parliament could legislate for the Free State."

He denied the measure would remove the Free State from the commonwealth, and said it was "intended to bring the law into accordance with the facts."

James Dillon, vice president of Cosgrave's party, retorted that De Valera "has hurt the feelings of a great and friendly nation at a moment when they are subjected to a severe strain in a time of crisis."

TRIPLETT TO FACE CHECK HEARING

Woman Who Sold Gun To Defendant Arrested By Santa Ana Police

As Charles W. Triplett of Orange awaited trial in superior court on a bad check charge, Santa Ana police today had made another arrest in connection with the case.

They arrested Mrs. A. E. Rankin, 318 East Fourth street, on charges of violating the concealed weapon act by selling Triplett the gun which Orange police took from him at the time of his arrest. She was given a 90-day suspended jail sentence by Judge John G. Mitchell.

Mrs. Rankin, police charged, sold Triplett the gun without turning in his application for a purchase. It was a .32-caliber revolver which she said she sold him for $18.

Triplett was held to answer to superior court yesterday afternoon by Judge A. W. Swayze in Orange justice court. Officer John Elitiste arrested the suspect after Triplett assertedly pulled the gun and threatened the officer. Elitiste drew his own gun and ordered Triplett to drop his weapon, which he did.

The check charge was filed by Elmer Yordy, cafe owner, although Triplett is alleged to have passed other checks at Watson's Drug store and at the Christopher market in Orange, each for $20.

MORE ABOUT CAESAR

gangster that Dillinger played in real life. He saw Myrna Loy exemplify the romance which he also had found in life. He saw William Powell as the representative of the law which finally ended the career of the film gangster. He saw the gangster pay the supreme penalty for his life of lusts and murder. Then he walked out of the show and met the same fate, trying to deal out death even as he sunk to the pavement, fatally wounded.

Written at Laguna

"Manhattan Melodrama" won for Caesar the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, and it also won for him the congratulations of many residents of the Art Colony, who hold that Caesar is entitled to credit for riding the earth of the cruel killer.

Caesar wrote "Manhattan Melodrama" in Laguna Beach, where he works out the plots for most of his stories. Believe it or not, he does most of his "writing" while galloping about the Laguna hills on a horse. That is, he works out his story ideas there.

Before he came out to California Caesar lived in New York, where he used to write Walter Winchell's column for him on occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Caesar have been in Laguna Beach for around six years, and now they are building an attractive $10,000 home there.

Story for Arliss

Caesar recently returned from England, where he stayed for 11 months while working for the British-Gaumont Film Production corporation. He now is with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and is working on an original scenario for the movies. While in England, one of the original stories he wrote was for George Arliss.

Because of his prominence in the writing world Caesar has had many interesting experiences, one of them the famous verbal tiff he had with George Bernard Shaw. On another occasion he was called upon to speak—just after the king of England had spoken.

Cat Comes Back
Mrs. Cora Platts, mother of Mrs. Caesar, stays with the Caesars at Laguna Beach because she likes it better than any other place. "Sinner," the Caesar's fluffy Persian cat, also prefers Laguna. Mrs. Caesar proves that the cat likes Laguna better than Hollywood. She points out that if they are in Hollywood packing to go to Laguna, Sinner prances about happily. But every time they go back to Hollywood and the cat notices the packing activities, he scampers out of the house, meowing plaintively, and the Caesars have to spend several hours finding the cat. This is a strain on the nerves of a writer who deals with bigger things in his stories than frantic searches for a piqued pussy.

Four Orange county 4-H club members will enter livestock in the Great Western Livestock show opening in the Union stockyards, Los Angeles, on Dec. 14.

POPE SPENDS GOOD NIGHT

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Lying in bed, Pope Pius XI assisted at mass today in a chapel adjoining his sick room, after what was described as his most tranquil night since he was stricken with paralysis of the legs.

His Holiness was given a draught of digitalis shortly before dawn because of his difficulty in breathing.

Vatican officials said the holy father was holding his own against the paralysis which has confined him to bed for the past week.

He went to sleep last night after reciting his rosary and expressing gratitude the British throne had not fallen and a divorcee would not become queen.

A reliable Vatican source yesterday said he suffered a relapse and expressed the belief the Pope might never be able to walk again.

ICKES DONATED FOR NORRIS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Campaign contributions totaling $1100 by Secretary Ickes were reported today by the special senate committee investigating political spending. They included $1000 to the Democratic party and $100 to the personal fund of Senator Norris (R., Neb.).

Other donations disclosed by the committee's questionnaires included $5000 from Henry Morgenthau of New York, father of the secretary of the treasury.

Largest contributions on today's list were $12,400 from Hugh D. Auchincloss of Washington, and $10,200 from J. R. McCuen of Pittsburgh, both to Republican campaign funds.

Hope to Resume Recreation Work

From an expected visit of Sigurd B. Nilander, state director of recreation projects for WPA, late today or tomorrow, local WPA officials hoped for action to resume operation of a $250,000 project for this county.

Originally scheduled to open today, the project has been postponed because an allocation of funds, expected daily for more than a week, has not arrived.

Nilander is to visit the district WPA office at San Diego and may call here, Fred P. Jayne, supervisor of recreational, women's, and professional projects, said.

State Prepared For Relief Job

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—California is prepared, relief officials said today, to meet this winter's demands for both work and direct relief.

They said relief workers need feel little apprehension over the outlook. Cuts effective next week on "cultural art" projects do not portend any general slash soon in work relief jobs.

These statements were made by Frank Y. McLaughlin, state works progress administrator, and John C. Henderson, assistant to State Relief Administrator Harold Pomerooy.

MORE ABOUT KING GEORGE

municated their desire "to be associated with this bill," and that President Eamon de Valera, of the Irish Free State, had informed him the free state parliament would meet during the day "to pass legislation dealing with the situation."

However, Dublin advices said proposals would be submitted to the Dail Eireann to amend the Free State constitution in an effort to eliminate the king from the charter.

While the king made his farewells to brothers and friends at Fort Belvedere, Mrs. Simpson at Cannes, let it be known through a spokesman that she expects to obtain her divorce decree next April without complications.

Baldwin Pays Tribute

As yet, the spokesman said, she has made no arrangements to meet the former king.

The house of commons, rushing the abdication bill through first, second and third reading with but a faint ripple of dissent from a handful of left-wingers, sent it to the peers at 1:20 p. m.

Before it went to the other end of the long corridor which separates the two houses, Prime Minister Baldwin paid another moving tribute to the passing sovereign.

"Though we have this duty to perform, and we perform it with unanimity," he said, "we shall always remember with regard and affection the wholehearted and selfless service that his majesty has given to this country as Prince of Wales and during his short time as king."

Old World Ritual

"For all this work we are grateful, and we shall not forget."

The final scene in the house of lords was a swift and simple enactment of old world parliamentary ritual.

After the few brief minutes that passage required, the three peers of the royal commission retired and quickly donned their scarlet and ermine robes and oddly shaped black hats.

The gilt throne stood, empty, its cover removed, looking strangely bleak and alone.

A short red bench was placed at the steps to the dais. There, in the presence of more than half a hundred peers, one bishop, three peeresses and packed press and visitors' galleries, the three lords of the royal commission took their seats.

Solemn Ceremony

Members of commons were summoned, to be informed in the usual manner that the king, choosing to be not personally present, had appointed the commissioners to "give assent to an act."

The reading clerk pronounced the king's declaration of abdication, then the act itself. The clerk of parliament, standing at a side table facing the lord chancellor, turned about toward the members of commons, jammed together at the end of the chamber beneath the gallery.

In traditional Norman French he intoned: "Le Roi le Veult!" ("the king wills it").

Commons trooped through the great hall, back to its own chamber, and the lords resumed their own business of adjourning.

Earlier, howling joyfully, the commons swamped an amendment by the left-winger, James Maxton, which would have rejected the bill on the grounds it failed to "give effect to the principle of popular election." The vote was 403 to 5.

At the same time, Sir Donald Somervell, the attorney general, told his laborite questioner, Will Thorne, in commons:

"There is no truth in the suggestion King Edward will be compelled to leave the country." Edward's friends said he would not be at Cannes, but would reside near enough to that Riviera resort to visit the woman he firmly intends to marry as soon as she is free.

No Title Decided
The title he will bear—if, indeed, he is anything but plain, everyday, Edward Windsor—will be decided by the new king, his brother, "when the time comes." That was the authoritative word in commons today from Sir Donald, the attorney general.

While increasing crowds gathered before 145 Piccadilly, residence of the new king, to stare up at the sombre windows, Edward said farewell to old mem-

FORECAST MADE FOR CITRUS

A prediction of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics that the country's average production of oranges would increase to 55,000,000 boxes for the next five years, made today by officials in Washington, D. C., would not be representative of the situation in Orange county.

This opinion was expressed today by Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs, who pointed out that but 10 per cent of the orange land in this county now is non-bearing. Orange county, he said, produces about half the summer oranges which leave California. He said that this probably will not be true in the future because of increases in production in other areas.

The bureau in Washington reiterated a previous forecast that the average total citrus production during the five years would reach 80,000,000 boxes, 25 per cent greater than the 1928-33 average.

FEAR FIGHT ON SARDINE LAW

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Likelihood of legislation by the new congress affecting the Pacific ocean sardine fishery, subject of bitter controversy last session, apparently hinges largely on the desires of the California and other West coast delegations.

Chairman Schuyler Otis Bland (D., Va.) of the house fisheries committee, said today he had not decided whether to reintroduce a committee resolution calling for an investigation of the fishery.

"I don't even want to talk or think about it until congress meets," Bland said, recalling the fight which developed last spring over the attempt of California interests to curb operations of sardine reduction boats on the high seas.

bers of his personal staff and visited for perhaps the last time the gardens and wooded paths of old Fort Belvedere.

Police guarded the turreted retreat and the nearby flying field. The Duke of Kent, Edward's youngest brother, arrived at the lodge in the afternoon.

London Is Calm

London was calm, Christmas-time crowds thronged the streets, optimism prevailed in the financial district. There were no untoward demonstrations either in Downing street or Westminster.

By midday the crowds in Piccadilly, predominantly feminine, had increased to the point where police reinforcements were keeping the people moving.

The Countess of Strathmore, mother of the new queen, visited her daughter, and 10-year-old Princess Elizabeth, the new heir to the throne, accompanied her grandmother to a garden gate in the rear of the house when she left.

Lunches With Churchill
The Archbishop of Canterbury, on a mission of consolation, visited Queen Mary.

Edward's last luncheon as king was with Winston Churchill, the statesman who steadfastly defended his sovereign's position in commons. Kent, too, was a guest.

The bulk of the outgoing king's treasured personal belongings already had left Belvedere—packed in many suitcases and trunks, all without labels.

SKUNK DRIVES MAN TO TUB

MALDEN, Mass. (AP)—Menzo Pippo, 58, spent last night in a bathtub, and the folks in the apartment below had to let their furnace fire out—all because Pippo didn't know the difference between a woodchuck and a skunk.

In the yard behind the two-family residence last night Pippo pursued with an ax what he thought was a woodchuck. As he felled the animal he discovered his error.

The skunk crawled into the cellar and died.

The ground floor residents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Wyts, called every city department they could think of.

Police and health board inspectors responded and fumigated the cellar. After a family council the Wyts let the furnace fire go out.

WEBB RULES ON WAGE SCALES

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—State Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled today the state personnel board may not establish prevailing wage scales for civil service employees in particular communities.

In reply to a query by State Director of Finance A. J. Sacher, Webb reviewed the 1934 legislative act setting up the personnel board.

He pointed out that the board must classify civil service jobs and grade the salaries to be paid for various jobs so that like salaries will be paid for like duties.

The attorney general said he did not find any authorization in the act for the board to establish salary scales according to communities.

TAX PAYMENTS $23,000 ESTATE
TWO MILLION LEFT BY PAPKE

With approximately 10,000 accounts yet to be checked, first-half tax payments in Orange county today had reached a total of $2,046,528.23, nearly 50 per cent of the total assessment charge.

Deadline for payment of the semi-annual tax installment was reached Saturday at 5 p. m. However, 70,000 bills had been mailed to taxpayers, and the last-minute response virtually swamped Tax Collector John Lamb's office.

The total charge for 1936-1937 was $4,527,699.50.

The ratio of payment between this year and last, Lamb pointed out, is almost unchanged. Then the total charge was $4,780,209.29, and on Dec. 11 payments totalled $2,119,874.29.

Final figures on payment of taxes for this half year will not be compiled for several days, owing to the tremendous influx of last-minute payments.

BOOST OUTPUT OF STAMPS, CURRENCY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The bureau of engraving and printing today reported sharply increased production of currency and stamps. Currency production was set at an average of 3,600,000 pieces daily between July 1 and Dec. 30, compared with 2,100,000 pieces daily during 1935.

This increase was attributed by bureau officials to upturns in money in circulation, which, they said, have tended to "wear out" currency more quickly.

Production of postage stamps increased from a daily average of 45,000,000 in 1935 to 59,000,000 for the first five months of this fiscal year, cigarette stamps from 22,000,000 to 32,000,000, tobacco package stamps from 8,500,000 to 9,500,000, and liquor stamps from none to 4,800,000.

THORN In the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

Well, the King did it! Not "my kingdom for a horse" but "my kingdom for a divorcee named Wally."

Don't know how most people took the news of the king's abdication, but to me it was a tragic, heart-rending story. King Edward who at one time had won the hearts of the English masses; who would go down into the coal mines, or the slums, now to turn his back on all his subjects, his empire, his crown, his kingship—it's a sorrowful tale.

Personally I'd be afraid to take a chance on marrying such a charming woman as Mrs. Simpson is said to be, for fear I might meet the same fate as have her two previous husbands.

Some are inclined to blame Baldwin for his advice, but I am satisfied with his explanation that "an advisor of the crown can be of no possible service to his master unless he tells him at all times the truth as he sees it."

We can only hope that later on he won't have to say like his unemployed third great-grandpa, King Saul, that "I have played the fool."

Anyway, he who had ruled over millions of men and women subjects, now becomes a subject himself to be ruled over—by one woman!

Grain shipments from Russian Black Sea ports are at low ebb.

TURKEY RECORD FOR AMERICA

The American people ate more turkey on Thanksgiving day, 1936, than they have ever consumed on this national holiday. This information was received here today by H. S. Wright, district manager of Safeway stores. The statement was made by George Makins, general manager of the California Turkey Growers' association, the largest organization of turkey producers in the country.

Ten days before Thanksgiving there were 20,000,000 of the birds "on the hoof." A turkey in the barnyard is far from being roast turkey on the table. It was here that the chain stores of the nation, with their unusual facilities for distribution, entered into the celebration of Thanksgiving. As turkeys began to move into the markets it was disclosed that there were 5,000,000 birds in excess of last year's crop. The market was threatened with demoralization.

This brought an emergency appeal to the National Association of Food Chains with headquarters in Washington, D. C. More than 125 urgent telegrams poured in from farm groups.

The chain stores immediately threw all their resources into the greatest turkey drive that had ever been carried in. By advertising and sales promotion they increased the normal demand for turkey. They stemmed the tide of falling prices that threatened disaster to the producer.

The turkey drive will continue during December leading up to another big sale for the Christmas and New Year's holidays. The 18 or 20 pound turkey is the economical buy. The waste is nearly the same in the small and large turkey. A large proportion of the big turkeys is left for the Christmas trade.

The successful campaign of the chain stores to dispose of a surplus of turkeys has brought many expressions of appreciation from poultry producers in all parts of the nation.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

W. R. ROBB

After long delay, the congressional committee appointed to investigate the Townsend plan and its movement has had its findings made public. As expected, the report is colored with the same kind of bias and prejudice as characterized the attitude of the committee. Any other kind of a report than an antagonistic one would not have been recommended by the committee's actions. They naturally were not inclined to condemn their own actions in any report submitted. And they didn't.

The facts in the case are that the committee failed in its objective. Its real purpose, as the understanding public is well aware, was to discredit the leadership of the Townsend movement and thus destroy it. The committee did succeed in discrediting some of the Townsend leaders, which, to the chagrin of the committee, turned out to be a good thing for the movement. Instead of the movement dying as the committee intended, the unworthy leaders were kicked out of the organization, new ones were appointed, and the movement continued to grow. It has never ceased growing.

Unwittingly the investigating committee gave some needed aid to the Townsend movement. It did this by doing dirty work connected with the movement's leadership. If the Townsend organization itself had carried on the investigation of its leadership it would have resulted in factions and disintegration. But when the committee brought the facts to light, it was done in such a way that it evidenced persecution intentions. The result in the Townsend organization was not that of condoning the wrong-doing of its own leadership, but instead in due time their dismissal. There was also generated among the Townsend followers such a determination to put the Townsend plan over as had never before been experienced. The resentment which the committee created has been a strengthening force ever since with the Townsends, and seems probable to continue.

Publicity on a wide scale costs plenty of money. But the investigating committee's methods were so evidently those of persecution, and so unusually brutal, that they provoked protest from both the friends and the opponents of the Townsend plan. The press took it up and spread the story on the

ROPER VIEWS BIG YEAR IN BUSINESS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Roper has forecast that 1937 would be the best business year since 1929.

He added that when "better adjustment of relationships in our national economic life" are considered next year will be "better than 1929."

Roper is not attending George L. Berry's industrial and business conference which started yesterday.

Outlining current business conditions, Roper said he was "very much encouraged" by numerous recent business conferences "all of which look to stabilizing conditions in business."

front pages of both big and little papers, day after day all over the country. Soon the Townsend plan was the talk of the nation. In the Townsend organizers had not yet penetrated, the newspapers carried the news of the Townsend plan with its $200 per month for everybody when they were 60 years old. The papers printed the pictures of the country doctor in all sorts of poses, but generally as they caught him as he pleaded with large audiences for the justice for both young and old which the Townsend plan would bring. And in those places saw a man who also was aged, pleading for a cause from which he himself could not hope to profit long. They read in that face kindness, sincerity, and honesty of interest in the welfare of the people. And after having experienced so much of labor with the promise of nothing more than bare necessities, the doctor's $200 per month idea didn't sound so bad. The soil of their interest was thus stirred and cultivated, and more ready for the seed which the Townsend organizers would soon bring and plant in their hearts and minds. The result has been thousands of Townsend clubs organized with ease in such localities. Publicity usually costs plenty of money, but this was not the case. Some say that such wide and helpful publicity could not have been purchased for $1,000,000. The Townsends will have to help foot the bill in the form of taxes that will have to be levied to pay the expenses of the committee, but they at least have gotten something for their money which is doubtful if the rest of the public did.

And now the doctor who walked out on the committee when its insults became unbearable, will have to stand trial on two counts of contempt for the house of United States representatives. The doctor may even go to jail if he is convicted. Already he is in a measure the hero of millions of American Townsends. If he is incarcerated because he dared to defy a committee who strove to destroy a movement of the people of which he was the leader, then the picture will be made complete and he will become a hero indeed. The writer will discuss still further at a later date other results of the Townsend investigating committee.

FISH DECORATE NEW HATS Is Lobster Trimming Next?

NEW YORK. (AP)—Hats off to day to the enterprising little woman who decided to use fish to trim Milady's 1937 Easter bonnet. Scores of little bright globules adorned the black silk straw hat which Mme. Simone George, Paris milliner, showed Manhattan before departing for her native France. Asked what they were, she replied with the staggering practicality which the French often show, "Fish bladders, bought in the fish market!" Dyed black, she said, the fish bladders look "brilliant" as hat decor. The tiny fish globules are full of air, and can be deflated at will, like a balloon.

The legendary Trojan war took place about the beginning of the 12th century.

HUGE PLANES PREDICTED FOR U. S.

Air Commerce Bureau
Visions Ships for 40
Passengers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bureau of air commerce, estimating that 1,000,000 passengers have traveled America's air lines this year, said today planes twice as large as any now in use may be flying commercial routes in two years.

A bureau official said one manufacturing company is constructing a 40-passenger, 20-ton ship. The largest planes now flying scheduled routes carry a maximum of 21 passengers.

Flying as a commercial enterprise over established routes is only about 10 years old. In 1926 regular transport planes carried 5000 passengers. Last year the number was 800,000.

The bureau officials said demands of air travel are so great that the 40-passenger four-motor plane would be economically sound if it could be put into operation immediately.

Principal expansion of facilities so far, he said, has been in the direction of more planes and routes rather than in the size of individual ships.

The plan to finance construction of this plane, the official said, indicated that commercial flying may get away from rapidly changing styles in transport planes and turn instead to use of the same general type on all trunks.

In the case of the new air levitan, five operating companies pooled $100,000 each for construction and tests of the first plane. "This may mean that ultimately the field of transport plane manufacturing will be narrowed to one or two principal companies," the official said.

Kemmerer Wins Speech Contest

Harry Kemmerer won first place in the speaking contest sponsored Wednesday night by Smedley chapter of Toastmasters at its dinner meeting at Daniger's "Let Yourself Go" was his topic. He discussed the beneficial effects of laughter as a tonic for the man who is burdened with worry and care.

D. H. Tibbals and Karl Bosch tied for second place, speaking respectively on "The Great Pyramids of Egypt," and "My Itinerary." Other speakers were Robert Korff, Charles F. Waldo, James Workman, and Allen W. Goddard. Ernest R. Byrne acted as toastmaster, with Walter S. Ferris as general critic, and Harry S. House as dictionary critic.

Dr. J. C. Rulley, E. Arledge and Morris Birt were visitors.

PENSION FIGHT IS LOOMING

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the specter of a bonus fight absent for the first time in years, the new congress appeared likely today to face another problem involving veterans — pensions for widows and orphans of World war soldiers.

Maneuvers to obtain broader pension legislation for relatives of these veterans are looked for both from within congress and from sources outside.

Pensions are provided now in cases of death from causes traceable to war service. Some congressional sources, however, expect a strong movement to provide benefits regardless of the cause of death.

Farmers Favor Federal Relief

California farmers feel that as little as possible of local funds should be used for relief and welfare, but that administration should be in the hands of county boards of supervisors, Dian R. Gardner, Orange County Farm bureau president, reported on his return from the farm bureau convention in Pasadena.

In the tax committee hearings he attended, Gardner said, it was pointed out that California receives many needy from other states, and should have federal help to carry the load.

SECRETS OF NORTH SEA STUDIED

SEATTLE (AP)—Bering sea, second only to the Mediterranean in size, hibernated beneath an ice sheet from the Pribilof islands north today while navigators studied newly published secrets wrested by coast guardsmen from the northland sea.

They tended to bear out the theory an Arctic ice sheet once covered Bering sea and that, geologically, a short time ago, North America and Asia were, probably, one, and mammoths crossed over on dry land.

The report revealed that if the Bering shoreline and its submarine continental shelf were raised but 200 feet they could connect Asia and Alaska today. If raised 300 feet all the eastern Aleutians as far as Umnak, plus the Pribilofs would become part of the Alaska peninsula mountain range. This also would lay bare a tremendous plain—the northern half and most of the eastern part of Bering sea.

Only beyond Attu island, at the Asian end of the 900-mile neck-lace of volcanic, fog-veiled islets, is the passage deep enough to permit abyssal waters flowing from the Pacific ocean north. Elsewhere, fathometer soundings revealed, the passages carry only surface waters—northward at the floodtide, southward at the ebb.

L. A. JUDGES ARE CLOCKED NOW

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles superior court judges, by their own order, submitted themselves today to a virtual time clock system.

The jurists won't need to punch clocks, but their clerks will record their comings and goings, on and off the bench.

County Clerk L. E. Lampton said the judges had ordered that henceforth court records show:

The time each judge takes the bench; the exact time taken in trying default divorce cases; the time each judge leaves the bench for recess; the time court reconvenes; the time the final adjournment is made; the time each judge is in conference with attorneys in his chamber.

EUROPE ALSO HAS FARM PROBLEM

Federation Convention Learns How Other Nations Meet It

PASADENA. (AP)—Europe has its farm problem, too, Clifford V. Gregory, Chicago, a member of the President's special commission to investigate cooperatives in Europe, told the American Farm Bureau federation's annual convention today.

"In Ireland," said Gregory, who is editor of Prairie Farmer, "farmers complain bitterly about the English cattle tariff, while in England, farmers complain because the tariff is not high enough."

"On the wall of a creamery in southern France I saw a poster which told of the evils of deflation and demanded honest money, more protection against imports, and parity prices."

Gregory declared a great deal has been done about the problem, and added, "Our efforts here are only a start compared with what European nations have done to make farming profitable. They have tried practically everything that we have tried and almost everything that we have talked about."

The editor said plans vary from export subsidies to straight price fixing.

Negro Who Slew Girl Executed

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Martin Moore, 22-year-old negro, was executed in North Carolina's gas chamber today for the hotel room slaying of Helen Clevenger, New York university student, in Asheville, last July.

The former hotel bellboy, a hulking giant who confessed shooting and beating the 18-year-old victim to death, was pronounced dead 12½ minutes after he entered the death chamber.

Tailors Say Well-Dressed Man Needs 18 Outfits

Lad Uses Dice To Sell His Christmas Seals

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—A 10-year-old Columbus lad invented a novel way to sell Christmas seals.

Confronted with many rebuffs, the youngster now jerks a pair of dice from his tattered overalls with the cry: "Shoot you double or nothing for two stamps."

He claims he has sold 62 seals after "my straight sales talk failed."

"I about break even on the deals," he added.

JOHN ANDRE SOUGHT

Sheriff's officers today were attempting to locate John Andre, 45-year-old Los Angeles milker, missing from his home since Wednesday. His brother, Frank Andre, reported he had no idea where John was going or why he left home.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Men will require at least 18 outfits to be well dressed next season.

This information came today from the annual fashion exhibit of the Merchant Tailor Designers' Association of New York and represented the consensus of designers.

Those who wish to be impeccably dressed must have, the designers said, a wardrobe with the following:

Six business suits, four single breasted, two double.

One sports suit, with odd garments to make four combinations.

Host jacket.

Dinner suit.

Cutaway.

Full dress (of midnight blue barathra cloth).

Riding suit.

Yachting uniform.

Three topcoats, one overcoat, and guard's coat.

Designers said the trend was toward loosefitting clothes showing the British influence and "refined" athletic effects.

California's first legislature convened in San Jose, the state's first capital, in 1849.

SIMPSON IN FINAL PLEA TO EDWARD

Wally's Divorced Mate Tried to Stave Off King's Abdication

LONDON. (AP)—Ernest Aldrich Simpson, divorced husband of King Edward's betrothed, was disclosed last night to have made a poignant, last-minute attempt to stave off abdication of his sovereign.

Late Wednesday night, Simpson's friends disclosed, the London ship's broker made overtures, through intermediaries, in the hope his former wife would renounce Edward's proffered hand so definitely that the swift march to abdication would be halted.

The appeal was not in any way a plea for reconciliation with the American-born divorcee. It constituted devotion to King and country, which he once served as a member of the King's Coldstream Guards.

However, like the rest of the immense pressure brought upon the sovereign, his effort failed.

Simpson, who, since the Ipswich divorce of Oct. 27 has lived the life of the ordinary London businessman, is personal friend of the king.

Lloyds May Lose By Abdication

LONDON. (AP)—Lloyds Underwriters received news of King Edward's abdication philosophically, but one agent said some losses might be suffered on insurance against postponement of the coronation.

Underwriters asserted it was too early to determine the full effect. (Many business organizations which stood to suffer if Edward was not crowned next May as scheduled took out insurance with Lloyds. Among them were makers of coronation souvenirs, who would have to scrap any of their products which bore the King's name.)

On the occasion of his retirement from office, City Manager Gerland J. Sherlock of Dublin, Irish Free State, was presented by his colleagues with a massive silver tea and coffee service.

Priest Solaces the Accused

The orthodox priest, mystery man of the Community Players' drama, "Judgment Day," as played by Herbert G. Bickel, claps the hand of George Khitov (Robert Guild) and encourages Lydia Kuman (Marion Bruner) at a crucial moment during their assassination trial. The play will be presented tonight and Saturday in the council chamber of the city hall.

Mencken Calls Edward 'Idiot'

BALTIMORE. (AP)—H. L. Mencken, the author and critic, was caustic today in his comment on King Edward's abdication to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson, former Baltimore belle.

Mencken said: "I consider Edward an idiot. His abdication shows it."

To Discuss Crime On Forum Program

Subject for discussion on the Orange county public forum in Santa Ana High school Monday, at 7:30 p. m., will be the American crime problem, it was announced today.

Dr. Charles N. Burrows, dean of men and professor of sociology at Simpson college, Iowa, will lead the discussion. For the past several years he has made an intensive study of crime conditions in Iowa and has published statistics of his findings.

In handling the subject, Dr. Burrows will consider the prevention of delinquency, the characteristics of a delinquent, causes of delinquency, economic and human costs of delinquency.

Baltimore Wants Edward and Wife

BALTIMORE. (AP)—The city where Wallis Simpson was reared today invited her and the royal suitor who gave up an empire for her to come here to live.

As news flashes from London that Edward VIII had renounced his ancient British throne rather than forsake the love of the former Baltimore Belle, Mayor Howard W. Jackson announced:

"Now that the king has taken this final step, I would be very happy to have him and Mrs. Simpson make their home in Baltimore after they are married."

TERM FOR OLD SLAYING
MULESHOE, Tex. (AP)—John Teal, a fugitive for 17 years, was under an eight-year sentence today for the slaying 18 years ago of Miss Evelyn Monte, 22-year-old school teacher of Bailey county. A jury convicted the 50-year-old six-times-married defendant yesterday.

ADVERSITY IS CONQUERED BY BERTIE

(Roger D. Greene, former member of the London staff of the Associated Press, has written the following story on the personality of Great Britain's new king.)

By ROGER D. GREENE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Britain's new king, "Bertie," who likes to knit and can cast an iron plate in a smelting factory, steps into the world spotlight today as a perfect example of bulldog grit overcoming terrific obstacles.

He had a brooding inferiority complex. He stuttered. He had wretched health. He couldn't make friends—just couldn't "warm up."

He expelled at nothing. He didn't "register."

Nobody noticed him, in a room or a crowd. Shy, he simply didn't register.

Even now, at the glittering climax of his "success story," he gets the job only because his brother gave it up.

But down the years, doomed to understudy his glamorous brother, in his quiet, self-effacing way he perfected his role with a dogged courage that made command admiration.

Today, at the pinnacle, he has beaten the odds. If ever a man was self-made, the record shows it is Albert Frederick Arthur George, "by the grace of God"—and King Edward—"King of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas."

Great Cocoa Maker
The story has few dazzling chapters. His "prince charming" brother did all the dazzling for the Windsor family. Albert, in the best British tradition, "muddled through."

He didn't stand out. During the World war he saw action aboard the battleship Collingwood, at the battle of Jutland. After the smoke of battle cleared, all the officer in charge could recall about him was: "Oh, yes, I remember—he made cocoa, as usual for me and the gun crew."

He was a studious type, but never a scholar; a hard-playing, all-around athlete, but never outstanding.

Fell Off Horses
"The Duke of York," relates Capt. G. H. Drummond, who often entertained the royal sons of George V while hunting with the Pychley pack, "came down to my place with two of his brothers, and you can imagine my feelings when we put him on a hunter for a trial run 'round the field."

"Like the character in 'Jorrocks,' he sat there in a hazy, ease, elegance and firmness—until the animal moved. Then he generally fell off."

He couldn't make friends. "The greatest compliment ever paid to me," he once said, wistfully, "was a camp boy's remark that I was a 'human being.'"

Had Wretched Health
Without being regally haughty he simply lacked the spontaneous warmth to make him anything like the good mixer Edward is.

He had wretched health. He suffered several breakdowns, and nearly died of perforated duodenal ulcers which necessitated two operations.

His stuttering drove him into a shell, and it was not until after his marriage, when he was nearly 30 years old, that he could control his affliction sufficiently to make public speeches.

And his inferiority complex, brought on by his stammering and by his life-long role of "second fiddle" to the brilliant Edward, once found tongue in these words:

He Was a Jinx
"I seem to place an evil spell on any machine in which I take an especial interest," he spoke half whimsically, half in earnest, during an inspection tour of a factory.

"Once, to my surprise and dismay, I was dropped in a lift (elevator). Another time a supposedly foolproof stamping machine ejected 40 unstamped envelopes for my benefit. The threads of looms, at times, break as I approach them."

"In spite of these things, employers, I am glad to find, are still ready to welcome me in their midst."

His Chief Claim
Another time, an oft-told tale but illustrative of his realization of shortcomings, he exclaimed wryly, in public:

"My chief claim to fame seems to be that I am the father of Princess Elizabeth."

Today, the tall, grave-mannered second son of George V can look back on victory over all these "bogies."

He has trampled the inferiority complex to a point where he is

MANY TITLES DROPPED BY EDWARD

LONDON. (AP)—Edward loses his high-sounding titles with his throne.

He will cease to be Edward VIII, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the dominions beyond the seas, king, defender of the faith, emperor of India.

Henceforth he must be content with some simpler title. If he takes one at all, it probably will be chosen from one of the eight peerages he held as king. He could choose any of his dukedoms: Cornwall, Lancaster, Normandy or Rothesay.

Or he might take a more humble earldom, becoming the Earl of Chester or the Earl of Carrick.

May Be Just David

Even lower in the aristocratic scale he might decide to be the Baron of Renfrew or the Lord of the Isles.

He could even decide on just plain David Windsor.

No longer will he be prince and great steward of Scotland.

The highest ranks in the empire's fighting services likewise pass to his successor.

Edward has been admiral of the fleet, field marshal of the army, marshal of the royal air force. In addition, he has been colonel in chief of two regiments of household cavalry, five regiments of foot guards, the Royal Artillery, the Royal Engineers, the Royal Scots Fusiliers, the South Wales Borderers, the Duke of Cornwall Light Infantry and the Prince of Wales Volunteers.

Other Titles

He has been colonel-in-chief of the Middlesex regiment of the Seaforth Highlanders, the Royal Wiltshire Yeomanry, the West African Frontier Force, the King's African Rifles and the Ceylon Defense Corps.

No longer will he be able to call himself captain general of the Honorable Artillery Company, honorary colonel of several line regiments and officers' training corps, nor honorary air commodore in chief of the auxiliary air force.

Nor general of the Japanese army, nor admiral of the Danish navy, both honorary.

Huge Wardrobe

Besides his titles, Edward, as king, possessed an enormous wardrobe of uniforms and robes for such offices as senior bencher of the Middle Temple, fellow of the Royal Society and as degree holder from a number of empire universities.

In other phases of his civil life he was master of the merchant navy and the fishing fleets.

He held 19 orders and decorations from the chiefs of foreign states and such miscellaneous distinctions as membership in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, past grand master of the Free Masons, admiral of the Royal Yacht Squadron, chief scout of Wales, and patron of many social, sporting and industrial organizations.

Voice Personality To Be Explained

Santa Anans today were offered an opportunity to hear an expert discuss the subject "Voice Personality: Its Importance in Business and Social Life."

The lecture will be delivered by Miss Clara Blais, voice instructor for the Southern California Telephone company, at 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday in the Willard school auditorium as part of the adult education department program.

There is no charge for attending. More than 100 employees of the telephone company will attend the meeting, to which the public is invited.

Clay products valued at $8,970,000 were produced in the United States last year.

But He's Conquered
He stutters only occasionally. He is by far the most physically fit of the four royal brothers.

He has learned to make friends. By grinding perseverance, he has become an excellent horseman, a crack shot, a strong swimmer, excellent tennis player.

And although Edward always received the publicity as the world's best royal golfer, if Edward played his successor now, Albert would have to give him a couple of strokes. Edward's handicap is 11; Albert's has been newly-reduced to 9.

Finally, the crowning touch for the "understudy"—the son nobody noticed much—today has the eyes of the entire world upon him.

Success story—he is the king!

York's Marriage in 1923 To Commoner Caused a Stir

LONDON. (AP)—It's all forgotten today, but the Duke of York's marriage in 1923 caused quite a stir.

Prince Albert, Duke of York, Britain's new monarch, shocked the die-hards by marrying a person not of royal blood—the first English prince in 250 years to receive the king's consent to wed a commoner.

The order restricting monarch's sons in their choice of brides was laid down to English princes by King George II in a decree which only the growing freedom of the post-war years could kill.

Little commoner was aroused when George V permitted his only daughter, Princess Mary, to wed Viscount Lascelles, but not a few were shocked by first suggestions the Duke of York, second son and eldest, should take his bride from among the people.

George's decision to permit his children to choose from a wider circle, however, was said to have been on the condition they pick their mates in the first three ranks of the aristocracy—sons and daughters of dukes, marquises and earls.

Viscount Lascelles' birth met this requirement, as did that of the Duke of York's wife, who was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, and the Duke of Gloucester's wife, who was Alice Montagu Douglas Scott, daughter of the Duke of Buccleuch.

The Duke of Kent, George's youngest son, married Princess Marina of Greece, a royal match.

Arrest Fugitive From Chain Gang

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—A man identified by fingerprints as Earl Smith, alias Joe Roberts, sought, since 1934 as an escapee from a Florida chain gang, was arrested here yesterday for begging.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Delegates to the National Restaurant association convention peeked into the American kitchen today and decided it is no place for women.

"The ladies," said Conrad Kolk of New Orleans, "are not cooks at heart. Civilization has driven them into it."

Contending that appreciation of cooking as a high art is sweeping the manly hearts of the nation, he predicted the next 50 years will find as many men bending over stoves as women.

"However," he sighed, "I'm afraid man never will totally replace women as cooks for there are two many clever females who realize a tasty dish is as good a way to snare a husband as a winning smile."

ELKS TO STAGE CHARITY BALL

To aid in collecting toys for children of the poorer families of Santa Ana, the Elks lodge will stage its annual charity ball next Tuesday night.

It is anticipated that more than 500 persons will attend the annual event, to be held in the Elks' home on North Sycamore street, according to Harold Brown, who is in charge of the program.

Nine acts of vaudeville will follow a turkey dinner to be served from 5:30 to 8 p. m. The entertainment program will be followed by a dance, which will last until 2 a. m.

Each person who attends the program is asked to bring a toy of some kind, which will be distributed by the Elks to poor children at Christmas time.

OFFICIALS EYE CHRISTMAS ISLAND

South Pacific Atoll Is on Direct Air Route to New Zealand

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Air-minded government officials, authoritative circles said today, are casting covetous eyes at tropical Christmas Island in the Pacific, where the British flag has flown for nearly a half century.

Much larger than Howland, Baker and Jarvis, the nearby bits of land for the occupation of which congress appropriated $35,000 last June, Christmas is more nearly than they on the direct air route between the United States and New Zealand and Australia.

Almost astride the American defense line in the western Pacific, it has a big lagoon that might provide a harbor for naval surface ships as well as aircraft.

Nations Eye U. S.
While some informed quarters professed belief no move was planned for the present, a state department official said flatly that "the United States does not recognize British sovereignty there."

Other governments meanwhile have been eyeing with interest American aviation developments in the Pacific, including the occupation of the three equatorial islets south of Hawaii, Pan-American Airways' new line to the Orient and recently announced plans to improve Midway and Wake.

Reports reaching the interior and state departments said British, Japanese and French ships have isolated Howland, Baker and Jarvis in the last few months, without landing.

Matter of Raising Flag
The formal acquisition of these three uninhabited dots on the map was a mere matter of raising the flag and establishing four youthful Hawaiian pioneers on each, but officials said re-assertion of American claims to Christmas would have to be made through diplomatic channels.

Once the island, which is 45 miles long and has a land area of more than 200 square miles, was the property of the United States without dispute, and interested officials, poring over old records, privately deplored the Great Britain in Queen Victoria's reign was permitted to take it over almost by default.

How It Was Named
The United States merely "reserved all questions" in 1888 upon learning the Union Jack had been hoisted by Sir William Wiseman of the warship Caroline, and since then the matter of sovereignty has been slumbering, it was said at the state department.

One of the world's largest coral atolls, the island was dubbed Christmas when Captain James Cook arrived there in his ship, the Resolution, on Christmas day of 1777.

The American claim dates from its re-discovery by Captain John Stetson of New Haven "prior to 1857."

MORNING CLUB WILL CAROL

The Breakfast club will do a lot of things next Thursday. It will sing Christmas carols, welcome Santa Claus, rejoice over the appearance of a decorated tree from which members will receive presents, listen to an address by the Rev. Harry Owings and extract from the occasion the joy that comes at that season of the year. Program plans were revealed at yesterday's meeting of the club.

Harold Mathews announced the program will under way. Avid Mader will represent Santa Claus. He will award gifts, which later on will be transferred to the Crippled Children's society for distribution among little folks into whose hearts delight will come through the thoughtfulness of the Breakfast club. The event is to include the women.

Victor Allenman of Santa Ana, member of Sea Scouts who took a cruise on Fred Lewis's semi-yacht Stranger III, related incidents of that trip, which included visits to Honolulu, Samoa, Fiji Islands, South seas and other mid-Pacific islands. He was introduced by Harrison White, Orange county Boy Scout executive. Another trip down the Amazon is proposed by Lewis sometime next year.

The musical part of the program was furnished by James Haarstead, baritone, with Miss Eliza Hoxsie, accompanist. Miss Charlotte Morgan, radio singer and pianist, was presented with an honorary membership.

Book Review Of the Week

"MEN WHO RUN AMERICA"
By ARTHUR D. H. SMITH

This book tells about the wealthiest and most powerful men in America. If you are interested in reading of men who are living today and control fabulous riches, here is a book that contains personal as well as statistical information.

Whether or not you agree with the author's conclusions will depend largely upon your point of view. It is our opinion that he has treated captains of wealth a little too favorably.

However, the 30 men who are selected for "the master list" are described with much the same style as is customary in Fortune magazine. There are a few "case histories" condemned vigorously for anti-social viewpoints.

The conclusion... "since capitalism and the corporation are ideas of our own conception, we

CHICAGO. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Betty Jane Schultz, who as Betty Jaynes scored a big success in her recent opera debut, found the movies and the concert stage ready today to pay thousands of dollars.

Two contracts have been signed in behalf of the pretty high school sophomore, Attorney Clarence Shapiro announced. One will put her in the movies at a graduating salary from $250 to $1,300 a week, he said.

Evans and Salter, New York concert managers, guaranteed her $1,000 an appearance. Shapiro said: "She is being swamped with radio and concert offers."

Hal Pangle, Santa Ana high school developed into Oregon State's iron-man quarterback two autumns ago, under studies Mike Mikulak, former University of Oregon behemoth, in the safety spot for the Chicago Cardinals who play the Los Angeles Bulldogs at Gilmore stadium Sunday. Pangle plans to spend Christmas with his parents in Costa Mesa.

Inside tip: Santa Ana High school will accept when—and if—the Saints receive an invitation to withdraw from the Coast League and join the Citrus Belt.

Membership in the Citrus Belt league would be an ideal set-up because the schools have virtually the same enrollment as Santa Ana, and the Saints would be developing rivalries which could be continued in junior college. Riverside, San Bernardino, Chaffey and Pomona have representation in both the Citrus Belt league and the Eastern J. C. conference. The Southern California champion Dons belong to the latter.

The Citrus Belt is seeking a new rival, but 'tis said the coaches want Colton—not Santa Ana.

The Saints have come through the most disastrous schedule in history, but the 1937 one promises to be even worse provided the Walnut street preps remain in the too-powerful Coast league with the largest institutions of Long Beach Poly, San Diego High, Long Beach Woodrow Wilson, San Diego Hoover and Alhambra.

Re-leaguings problems will come before the C. I. F. in its annual meeting next spring.

Del Jones, Valencia's all-county Prep league quarterback, plans to go into professional baseball.

"I'm going to take out some more insurance if we play the Universals," says Guard Hal Spangler of the high-powered Woolen Mills cagers. "That guy Lubin is too tough."

U. C. L. A. is still hot on the trail of Santa Ana's all-conference fullback, John Lehnhardt.

Capt. Ray Buivid, Marquette's all-America back, completed 69 out of 123 passes for a gain of 791 yards this fall. Arlington may withdraw from the American Nightball league next summer. A North Carolina recreation commission sponsors a training school for girl basketball referees. Man Mountain Dean, 317-pound hill-billy who has put in several appearances at the Orange County Athletic club, returns to the Pacific coast wrestling picture against Jules Strongbow, 285-pound Indian, at the Olympic next Wednesday night. Alvin Lamb, Don fullback, plans to enlist with G. A. (Tex.) Oliver at the University of Arizona next September.

Olympic Decathlon Champion Joins New York A. C.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Glenn Morris, the automobile salesman from Ft. Collins, Colo., who won the Olympic decathlon title, has joined the New York Athletic club and will wear the winged foot emblem in competition this winter. Paul Pilgrim, club athletic manager, said today. Since there is no decathlon competition in the indoor meets, Morris will concentrate on the sprints and hurdle races.

Major Leagues Retain 'Rabbit Ball' for '37

CARDS KEEP DIZZY DEAN ON BLOCK

Mickelson Makes Survey Of Trades in National And American Leagues

By PAUL MICKELSON
NEW YORK. (AP)—Bob Feller was safely in the Cleveland Wigwag, the rabbit ball was set for another riding spree over distant fences and the incomparable Dizzy Dean still received orders from Branch Rickey today.

As major league club owners and managers, worn to a frazzle after 10 days of bartering, headed for home, all was peaceful and serene in the baseball world.

Cleveland was happy and relieved by the decision of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, who finally ruled that Feller, 17-year-old pitching wonder, was its exclusive property.

Club owners were triumphant. With the Feller decision behind them, they hoped ultimately to erase the statute which forbids them to sign sandlot players without minor league experience.

Because the majors had a big warehouse filled with rabbit balls, it was decided to use them up in 1937 and then talk about a dealer sphere for 1938.

Surveying the Trades
Although the St. Louis Cardinals hoped to sell the great Dean, Vice President Branch Rickey still was waiting for a bite as he kept his hook in the baseball pool.

Since the big player mart opened in Montreal last week, this is what each major league club did to repair its baseball fences.

KUDO-COLEMAN REMATCH SET

Kinan Kudo and Bob Coleman, sensational "little fellows," have been rematched for a three-fall-to-a-finish wrestling match Monday night at the Orange County Athletic club, topping a five-bout program that also shows Ignacio Martinez in a three-fall 45-minute match against the undefeated Swede man-mountain, Thor Johnson.

On the same card, performing in a super-special attraction, Promoter Sampson has the latest mat sensation of these parts, Indian Jules Strongbow, grappling Paul Harper, the powerful blacksmith. Other bouts will show Tiny Roebuck, 285-pound Haskell Indian, against Jake Patterson, and Dave Orshoff against "Iron Mike" Works in the preliminaries.

Owens' Coach at Dana Villa

Tan Thunderbolt of Olympics May Visit Snyder Here

By PAUL WRIGHT

You all know Jesse Owens, the tan thunderbolt from Ohio State who streaked to world records in two events and equalled another at the Eleventh Olympiad in Berlin. But—

Did you know that right here in Orange county lives the man who coached this Black Phantom to world-wide recognition on the cinder path?

Yes, Larry Snyder, head track coach of the Buckeyes and their Olympic champion, has registered at the Motor Inn apartments at Dana Villa, about a mile south of Dana Point. He slipped into the county unannounced, and will be a guest of the southern community until at least the first of the year, The Journal learned.

Snyder came to the Pacific coast for a visit with his wife, who has been in the West for the past few months to improve her health. To say that Owens is ONE of the world's greatest track-and-field performers is putting it mildly. Jesse IS the most brilliant cinder path.

FRED ERDHAUS JOINS MILLS

Santa Ana Weavers Play Breakers' Valet Five at Y. M. C. A. Tonight

Acquisition of Fred Erdhaus, Eastern J. C. all-conference center last winter, added new power to an already powerful Woolen Mills basketball ensemble.

Erdhaus will not be in suit when Manager Quentin Matzen sends his Washington Avenue independents against the Breakers' Valet Service of Long Beach on the Y. M. C. A. floor at 8 o'clock tonight, but he will join the club against Whittier college at Whittier next Tuesday night.

The Breakers' five will bring here an experienced quintet of James (Red) Russell, the ex-Firestone center; Don Whitehouse, who played forward at Washington; Scheman, a guard from Minnesota; and Howard Merrill from Oregon State. Sawyer rounds out the first-string at forward. There will be no admission charge.

Leonard Lockhardt, guard, injured a rib in Santa Ana's 37-21 victory at Riverside J. C. Wednesday night, and may not be able to perform. Manager Matzen said he would start Joe McChesney and Vernon Valentine or Harold Spangler at guard, Fred (Feet) Wiener at center, Bill Kolkhorst and Doug Wheeler at forward. Russell (Red) Sullivan, player-coach, Jack McManus, Clarence Peterson and Scott Drysdale also will be available.

CHRISTIAN FIVE TOPS 'Y' LOOP

The Advent Christians elevated themselves to a first-place tie with United Brethren in Community Church league basketball last night with a 22 to 16 victory over the Church of Brethren quintet.

The Santa Ana Nazarenes shaded the First Baptists, 19 to 18, in the other game. Commercial league play will be resumed in a game between Wilson's Service and Laguna Beach on the Y. M. C. A. court tonight.

LEE, MANFREDO BOX TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Glen Lee, rising young Nebraska welterweight, and Al Manfredo of Fresno, meet tonight in 10 rounds in the Legion stadium's main event boxing card.

Lee, recent victor over Bep Van Klammert of Holland in his last fight at Hollywood, was picked to trim the less durable Manfredo.

Texas Christians Invade Santa Clara Saturday

SANTA CLARA. (AP)—Tommy Gilbert, 185-pound halfback who was lost to the Santa Clara university football team early this season, will start Saturday against Texas Christian university here in place of the sensational Mexican star, Manuel Gomez, Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw indicated today.

derpather of all time, declares the coach from Columbus, Ohio.

If Owens, who is signed to a movie contract, visits California this year, he and his recent bride are certain to come directly to Orange county for a visit with Snyder.

The Buckeye Bullet thinks a lot of his coach. He showed this during the U. S. Olympic tryouts when he made it plain to the American committee that he wanted Snyder—and only Snyder—to coach him during the Games.

It was under Snyder's direction that the negro developed the style that enabled him to set records of 20.7 secs. in the 200 meters and 26 ft. 5 21/64 in. in the broad jump, and to equal the world standard of 10.3 secs. in the 100 meters.

The coach and athlete were treated cordially in Berlin. Snyder cleared up the wrong impression that Owens and other negro stars were "sighted" by Hitler. Only German athletes were received by their country's leader with the exception of Helen Stephens, Missouri's "feminine flyer" who was grabbed by the arm by a German girl who insisted the American sprint queen visit Hitler.

Snyder does not blame Owens for turning professional, and cashing in on the glory earned as an amateur.

The sprint king already has sailed away $50,000 from ventures in pro ranks, and is well on his way toward the $100,000 mark, according to Snyder.

The Ohio State coach plans to leave around the first of the year to resume his track duties at Columbus.

Vines to Receive Special Coaching From Don Budge

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Looking forward to a series of 20 professional tennis matches with Fred Perry, Ellsworth Vines is seeking special coaching from youthful Don Budge on the Englishman's weaknesses.

Vines, who arrived here yesterday en route to his Pasadena home, said he will ask "some mighty valuable pointers" from Oakland's sharpshooting red-head who beat Perry in Los Angeles a few months ago.

"I'm going to invite Don Budge to visit me in Pasadena," Vines said. "Budge has played Perry more than any other player out here."

"Perry's best shot, a backhand crosscourt, is a set-up for Budge. I particularly want Don to coach me in handling that part of Perry's game."

Budge is now in Southern California playing exhibition matches. Vines and Perry will start their tour in New York's Madison Square Garden the night of Jan. 6.

Co-Capt. John Lehnhardt was the most valuable and springy-legged Blas Mercurio, the most improved player.

on Santa Ana Junior college's Southern California championship football varsity.

These honors were bestowed today by the Don players themselves in a poll conducted by El John Lehnhardt.

Don, campus weekly publication, under the direction of Sports Editor Franklin Guthrie.

Lehnhardt was almost a unanimous choice.

SPORTS PROMOTER DEAD
SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Edward Lynch, San Francisco prize fight and wrestling promoter, was found dead in his home garage today, and police said he had committed suicide by hanging.

Post mortems: Connie Mack thinks the depression is on again. He actually came out of a mid-winter meeting without a cent (unless the Red Sox slipped him some on the side in the Higgins-Webber trade).

Connie couldn't even sell his house. Lee Keyser, Des Moines owner, the saddest man in town. He thought Landis was going to send Feller to Des Moines and Lee was all set to cash in. He aimed to call the boys together and stage an old-fashioned auction. He would have got himself $200,000.

Aboard the Bremen: Max Schmeling demanding of newspaper men, "Vot iss vot?" Max gets his English twisted a bit and when he tells newsmen, "I demand Braddock fit me—dammit, fight me—first." Trainer Max Machon comments: "That fellow always get his English upside down, ain't it?" Max featured the same hat he wore on his last two trips. He swears he and Manager Joe (Yusselthe Mussel) Jacobs are just like that. . . . which is news.

At the hippodrome: "Johnnie" Walker, star of the old silent screen days, sitting in row A and rooting her pretty head off for Harry Hight to "sock" Escobar. . . . P. S.: Harry obliged. . . . Champion Jimmy Braddock introduced from the ring in bright gray spats. . . . Tony Canzoneri sitting well up front with his pretty Mrs. . . . She puts on cheaters, the better to see the action in the main event. . . . Mrs. Jeffra rushing to the ringside to give her son a smacking kiss after he trounces Escobar.

Devencenzi, just returned from the minor leagues' meeting at Montreal, said the matters will be decided at P. C. L. meeting next month at Los Angeles.

G. O. P. SEEKS ANTI-LYNCH MEASURE

Party Plans This Move in an Effort to Regain Votes of Negroes

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A determined drive to obtain anti-lynching legislation at the next congress was planned today by senate Republican leaders in a move to recapture the potent negro vote of the North.

Disturbed by evidence of wholesale desertions by negro voters in the last election, the Republicans seized on the anti-lynching move as the most likely to regain for the party the strength it once held with the negro race.

Ordinarily, a party with less than a score of votes in the senate would have little voice in shaping legislation. In the coming congress, however, the administration will face a half dozen vital deadlines which would make obstructive tactics particularly embarrassing.

The Republicans could delay action and perhaps force an agreement to consider anti-lynching legislation.

In astronomy and physics, the umbra is the region of a shadow from which direct light is cut off.

General in Jail

This picture of Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt was the first to be taken of him after he was jailed at Louisville, Ky., on a murder charge to await grand jury action on the accusation of slaying his fiancée, Mrs. Verna Taylor. (Associated Press photo.)

WPA Worker's Pick Hits Lead, So He Turns to Mining

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—George Workman was swinging a pick on a WPA ditch project.

Two feet below the surface his pick struck a pocket of lead ore. Workman promptly leased the property on which he was digging and announced he would become a lead miner.

VACANCIES TO BE FILLED

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Governor Merriam said yesterday he expects to fill several vacancies by appointment soon but will not be ready for a few days to name his choice for state railroad commissioner to succeed W. J. Carr, resigned.

The governor said he probably would not reappoint A. E. Stockburger, finance director as a member of the state personnel board believing that his more important duties, as head of the finance department, do not give him time to take care of the work of the personnel board. It is the governor's understanding Stockburger desires to have some of his extrajob tasks lightened.

Mrs. Ponzi Is Granted Divorce

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Rose Ponzi was granted a divorce yesterday from Charles Ponzi, notorious financial juggler, who was deported to Italy after serving a state prison sentence. Mrs. Ponzi sued on the grounds her husband was a convicted felon. He was convicted of swindling investors through a postal reply coupon scheme and served seven years.

Lathrop Junior High News

The Christmas edition of the Lathrop Junior High News will be the hands of Lathrop students on Friday, Dec. 7. Everyone is waiting anxiously to see what it's all about, since rumors of its being "different" this time have reached us. Mrs. Frances Beeson and Mrs. Margaret Hill are the faculty sponsors. Their staff has been chosen from their ninth grade English classes.

Welfare work under Mrs. Iva Webber's direction is progressing each day. Many home rooms have started filling their boxes, which are decorated in various ways. Some represent chimneys, some use blue and silver for their coloring, and others encourage Christmas giving with the good old red and green that we all look forward to, as typical holiday colors. These boxes will be presented by the home room presidents at a Christmas assembly, and the contributions will be distributed to welfare organizations by the Every Girls and I. X. L. clubs.

Plans for Christmas home room programs are being whispered about school. We hear that Mrs. Grace Wolff's class will dramatize "A Christmas Carol," that Miss Blythe's home room is working on a play and plans an exchange of a cent gift which will later be put into the welfare box, that Miss Cornell's drama class will give a series of one act plays, and lots of other interesting things.

The Lathrop rotunda presents a picture of yuletide cheer. Pine and spruce boughs live the walls. In one corner is a fireplace with a "real" fire that certainly looks good these cold mornings. Wreaths and baskets of red berries also add to the festive appearance of the hall, which was decorated by the Miss Mildred Tummond and officers of the school clubs.

Low 8 girls in Miss Ruth Gordon's vacation class heard an interesting talk from Miss Margaret Van Scoyoc. Miss Van Scoyoc told of the preparation and training requirements for nursing and answered questions on that subject.

The clothing classes under Miss Henrietta Fosters' direction are busy these days assisting in the making of dolls for Christmas welfare work. The girls are also working on aprons, gay play shorts and pajamas which they hope to have completed before Christmas. Ninth grade girls are studying beauty of dress in color and line as a unit preparation for their dresses which will be started soon.

A meeting of eighth grade Girl Reserves with Mrs. Marjorie Crumrine as director, was held recently at the home of Doris Rider. Mrs. McDonald of Anaheim had an interesting display of articles which she brought from Mexico.

Election of officers in Miss Leila Thrasher's home room resulted in the following appointments: president, Marion Blackburn; vice-president, Jack Atwood, and secretary, Ruth Anderson.

Miss Eunice Adams' home room sends in a good report of work to date. Money and dolls and a gift box have been donated, while the room has been decorated with a silver Christmas tree.

Students in Miss Pearl Nicholson's class have just completed some attractive scrapbooks. These were made of various colors, with bound covers, designed end pieces and the raised initial of each student on the front of each book. The books will be given, when complete, with pictures and entries, to children in the hospital.

As a general science project, this class has planted and is caring for a sweet pea bed. A study of seeds and of beans will follow.

Savory odors from Mrs. Ethel Sinke's class department indicate that her classes are preparing for Christmas in the best way! Things to eat! Cookies, lollipops, peanut brittle, candied apples are all being made. A display of canned fruits, vegetables, jams and fruit cakes wrapped in brightly colored cellophane tempt visitors to this department.

The spirit of Christmas prevails in the Lathrop branch library. There is a big Christmas tree with many colored lights, and at the base of the tree are many new books nestled in the cotton snow. The beautiful miniature stage, made by David Craighest, ninth grade student, makes a lovely setting for the Nativity scene that is a part of the annual Christmas display at the library.

Books of Christmas poems, plays and stories are displayed in a big window beside a large Christmas poster and big red candles. The Lathrop branch library will be open to the public, mornings and afternoons, all during the Christmas holidays.

On Thursday morning, Dec. 24, at 10 o'clock, there will be a Christmas story hour for little children. All small children are invited.

One hundred ten new books for adults and children were added to Lathrop branch library last month. Some of them are: Allee, Off to Philadelphia; Allen & Lyman, Wonder Book of the Air; Bianco, Winter-bound; Brink, Mademoiselle Misfortune; Chase, Rich Land, Poor Land; Coatsworth, Sword of the Wilderness; Darling, Boris, Grandson of Baldy; Eaton, Betsy's Napoleon; Ellsberg, Spanish War; Fargo, Marie; Martha; Ferris, Challenge; Hall, Up Creek and Down Creek; Jacobs, Modern Tennis; Kahmann, Raquel, a Girl of Puerto Rico; Lenski, Phebe Fairchild; Lull, Face West; Mason, Active Games and Contests; Meader, The Will to Win; Montgomery, Anne of Windy Poplars; Moon, Singing Sands; Morris, Susan and Arabella, Pioneers; Overbeck, Seven the Wise and Svea the Kind; Pease, Hurricane Weather; Phillips, The Saucy Betsy; Quinn, War-Paint and the Paved Road; Rourke, Audubon; Shirley, The Redwoods of Coast and Sierra; Smith, Indian Tribes of the Southwest; Stoddard, Discovering My Job; Jr. Aircraft Year Book, Flying for 1936.

Ten girls in Mrs. Ethel Sinke's low 9 foods class were made happy when a Christmas party was given because they had earned the most points on their home-work chart. Games of question and answer and black magic were played, and clever little gifts were exchanged. The class presented their teacher with a beautiful cut-glass perfume bottle. Punch, sandwiches and Christmas cookies were made and served by members of the class. Those girls who won the party as an award were Marjorie Buehly, Ethel Gorton, Audrey Jacobs, Mary Pappas, Betty Perryman, Marie Sean, Mildred Sloops and Corinne Wendorf. Hostesses were Lucy Alvarado, Maxine Ezelle, Jeanne Lawrence, Rosemary Pease, Vernice Stigers, Edith Sloops, Harriet Sturgeon, Merry White, Phyllis White and Emmy Lou Brooks.

Lathrop shops are busy these days making photo cells, weather instruments, such as barometers, thermometers and hygrometers. Mr. Adams of the Country club golf links has brought some golf clubs to the boys for nickel plating. They are enjoying this work very much.

CAR TOTALS TO SET RECORD

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Registrations of motor vehicles in the United States will reach an all-time high of about 28,277,000 this year, the Travelers' Insurance company announced today. The estimate is based on complete reports from 43 states.

Farley Returns From Ireland

NEW YORK (AP)—James A. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the national Democratic committee, returned from a vacation trip to Ireland yesterday. Farley said he found the greatest enthusiasm in Ireland, England and France over President Roosevelt's re-election.

STORAGE SPACE IS EXPANDED

Keeping pace with the improvement of refrigeration and a growing business, Cliff Quisel, owner of the Model Meat market, 408 South Main street, has increased the storage capacity so that he is better able to serve the public. This enlarged refrigeration gives him better buying power, and places him in a position to pass on to his customers the benefit.

The Model market is able to serve restaurants and cafes in quality and quantity, either wholesale or retail. Quisel is an experienced meat market operator, having for many years been with the Seidel markets.

Bonnet Declines Ambassadorship

PARIS (AP)—Georges Bonnet, former French finance minister, has decided to accept the ambassadorship to Washington, his friends said today.

Grim Defender

Unshaven and weary from days of toil defending Madrid from the attacking Fascists, Commander Lister of the Loyals' famed Fifth regiment still wore this look of determination as he watched the activities of his troops. (Associated Press photo.)

MERRIAM IS OPPOSED TO NEW WING

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Reports of plans being made to add a million dollar wing to the state building at Los Angeles brought the assertion from Governor Merriam late yesterday he will oppose any construction which involves additional expense to taxpayers.

Any building which can be erected, he said, and paid for through the saving in rentals or out of funds not involving appropriations from the general fund are acceptable to him, but he believes the claims of institutions such as the University of California, hospitals and prisons have a prior claim over new capital structures.

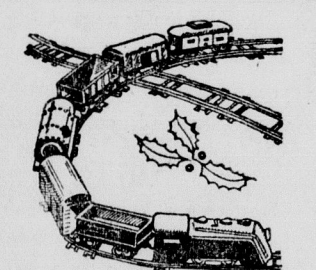

Great Britain's "Men of Trees" have been offered 2,500,000 young oaks together with 200 acres of land to start a Coronation Oak forest.

SCHOOLS TO RELEASE 30,000 STUDENTS FOR HOLIDAYS DEC. 19

VACATION TO LAST UNTIL JAN. 4

Twelve Hundred Teachers To Enjoy Rest From Class Duties

There were 62,520 eyes in Orange county trained on Dec. 19 today.

That date on the calendar is highly significant to the owners of the 62,520 eyes because it marks the beginning of the annual Christmas school holidays.

County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson announced today that practically all schools of the county, including elementary, high school and junior college, will close on Dec. 19 for the Christmas holidays.

There may be a few schools which will not close on that date, Adkinson said, but he knows of none at the present time.

There are around 30,000 students in Orange county who will toss aside their books during the Christmas holidays. In addition to the students, there are 1260 teachers who will have a vacation from their instructional duties.

After they enjoy their leisure time over the holidays, students and teachers will troop back to school on Jan. 4, 1937.

County Sued for Crash Damages

Orange county will take the witness stand in its own defense Dec. 17, when the suit of James Moore, 20, and Albert Moore, 18, against the county for $850 damages is heard in justice court here.

The two are suing the county through their father, Charles Moore. They claim damages as the result of injuries received May 14 in an accident at Magnolia avenue and LaPalma streets in Orange, when their car figured in a collision with a county car driven by A. G. Barnes.

The county, in its answer to the complaint, charges the accident was result of negligence on the part of the driver of the Moore car.

Franklin G. West, Santa Ana, is attorney for plaintiffs. District Attorney W. F. Menton will defend the county.

Mother of Local Physician Dies

Dr. Claude E. Olewiler yesterday received word of the death of his mother at Rialto. She had been ill for several months. Dr. Olewiler's father passed away last Saturday. He attended the funeral Tuesday.

The services for his mother will be held at Rialto, the time to be determined later. The deceased had been a resident of Rialto for 30 years.

Santa and the Viking

BY SIGRID ARNE

Coming over a hill suddenly they saw the Ice Queen's home

THE STORY SO FAR

Nils, a visitor at Toyland, is searching for his lost daughter with the aid of Santa, but the Ice Queen, who has the child, imprisoned, is warned of Nils' approach.

Chapter Five

The Sun And Moon Meet

The Ice Queen smiled coldly around her shining throne room as she thought of Nils, the Viking, trying to find his daughter.

"Ridiculous," she thought. "Nils and all of Toyland can't invade my castle." She walked over to the west wall of the room, turned a key, and a huge block of ice swung open like a gate. Out rushed a dozen, thin, gray winds that whizzed up and around the room, pushing over furniture.

Nils Came Closer And Closer

"Slowly, slowly, my winds," smiled the Queen. "I just want you out in case we have visitors." Then she pulled up a huge chair and sat down to gaze at the sleeping Gudrun, Nils' daughter.

Nils all this time was coming closer and closer to her palace. Captain Buttons, the tin soldier, and Mister, the woolly pup, trotted at his heels as he trudged through the snow drifts. Coming over a hill suddenly, they saw the Ice Queen's home.

"This could be the place where Gudrun is imprisoned," said Captain Buttons, pulling out his tin sword. "It looks dangerous."

"Woo-oo!" said Mister. The hair on his back stood straight up. "Something queer-ee-er!"

The Whistle Gives Advice

"See what the whistle says," advised Captain Buttons. "It told us to find a place where the sun and moon are one." So Nils blew the whistle Santa had carved, and it sang this tune:

Wait for the night,

When the time is right,

If they cross, the moon and sun, Then your search is almost done.

Nils and the toys took the whistle advice and hid behind a snow-covered hill to wait for midnight. As the time approached, the sky grew brighter and brighter. It was gold and silver. Slowly over the horizon rose the moon on one side, and the sun on the other. They slid across the sky and hung for a moment together over the Ice Queen's palace. Then they separated and continued their trip across the sky. As they slid over the horizon again, Nils and the toys hopped to their feet.

"That settles it," said Nils. "The sun and moon joined hands over that palace. We must enter it, no matter how dangerous."

"Woo-oo!" said Mister, and without another word his fat little legs were carrying him over the snow, pell-mell to the palace.

SCOUT TROOP HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

Group Sponsored Here By Legion Enjoys Dinner Program

Boy Scout activities during the current week included an annual banquet staged by Santa Ana Troop 29, sponsored by the American Legion post, in Legion hall last night.

Arrangements for the dinner and program were in charge of Scoutmaster Jerome Stephenson and Warren K. McCarty.

Santa Ana's newest troop, sponsored by the 20-30 club, will meet Monday night at Julia Lathrop school under leadership of Scoutmaster Forrest Whitson. It was announced by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

Another new troop, sponsored by the Fullerton Catholic church under leadership of the Rev. Fr. Easley, will hold a meeting tonight. The troop has 20 boys of scout age and 20 of cub age.

Troop 53 of Orange is planning a father-son dinner and court of honor to be held at Camp Irvine Monday night. Scoutmaster Elmore Lord and Roy Perkins are in charge of arrangements.

SERVICE GOAL OF LIONS IS OUTLINED

District Governor Is Speaker at Meeting Of Local Unit

George Lickteig of Oakland, district governor for California and Nevada of Lions International, brought a message of Lions' objectives to members of the local club yesterday in his annual visit.

Pointing out that Lions clubs were the original clubs organized particularly for service and not merely as luncheon groups, he told of some of the work done by the organization and its objectives. Seventeen hundred Boy Scout troops are sponsored by member clubs in eight nations, he said.

He stressed essentials of strong club organization and qualifications for service among members.

Lickteig, who remarked he had traveled 6,000 miles by air and 4,500 miles by train and auto since he took office Sept. 15, was introduced by Luther Mack, whom he succeeded as district governor. E. M. Sundquist was program chairman.

Film Workers Get Christmas Bonus

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Another Christmas bonus—$500,000—cheered movie workers in Hollywood today. Distribution of the sum to 11,000 employees was announced by Loew's, Inc., holding company of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio.

Recently 20th Century-Fox promised a similar bonus to the personnel.

WPA Employment In State Drops

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Employment on WPA projects in California dropped to 107,318, a decrease of 1119, for the week ending Nov. 28. Works Progress administration officials disclosed today. The previous tabulation was made Nov. 7. None has been announced this month.

PLAY SANTA CLAUS AND WIN SHOW TICKETS!

It is more blessed to give than receive.

But when a fellow can enjoy the keen thrill of giving and be rewarded in measure beyond what he gives, it is time to sit up and take notice. Particularly around Christmas time.

Sounds involved, but it isn't. Every boy and girl in Santa Ana and vicinity will have a chance to prove this truth the morning of Saturday, Dec. 19. On that day The Journal, cooperating with the Broadway theater, stages the big annual Christmas benefit show for kids.

Thrill of Giving

Here's how you boys and girls will get double pleasure out of attending the great annual Christmas show. Most important, you get the thrill of knowing that you have made a happy Christmas out of what otherwise would have been one of misery and heartache.

You do this by presenting your gift of food, clothing or toys at the door of the theater when you enter. That is all you do to go to the big show. You don't have to pay a cent. But you get the thrill of giving. The Parent-Teacher association will distribute the gifts to needy families.

Then, after you get in the show, your pleasure will be doubled. This is because Manager Lester J. Fountain has planned the swellest show for youngsters ever staged at a similar event. It will be a thrilling show, every single bit of it carefully chosen just for children. There won't be a dull moment, and will all the kids have fun!

Manager Fountain of the Broadway theater is having a swell time himself planning this unusual show for children. He wants it to be such a great show that kids will talk about it all year, and wait eagerly for next one. The show manager knows what kind of action-packed features children like; what their favorite cartoons and comedies are, and he'll give them to them.

If you want to do something extra nice, you can start right away. This year Manager Fountain has a new plan. Knowing that many children, and grownups too, would like to contribute toys which have lost their attractiveness, clothes in good condition which no longer fit, and good, unperishable food, the show manager will accept the contributions any time at the Broadway theater, from today on.

Play Santa Claus

So, if you want to do more than just leave your gift at show time the morning of Dec. 19, start scurrying around right now to dig up things which children in less fortunate circumstances than yours would be tickled to death to have. Take them down to the Broadway. Look in the attic, down in the basement, in the cupboard. Scour around and you'll soon find a lot of things for which you no longer have any use. But those same articles will make some poor little boy or girl mighty happy at Christmas.

It's a fine thing to do, isn't it? And every boy or girl in Santa Ana can have a part in the program, at so little cost and effort. Here's a chance for you to play Santa Claus to some unfortunate youngster. How about helping?

MANY PUT TO WORK

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The state employment service announced 13,418 were placed in jobs in the county last month.

COUNTY'S SEA SCOUTS WILL BE FETED

Receive Awards Tonight At Bridge of Honor In Santa Monica

Forty Orange county Sea Scouts turn landlubbers tonight.

They'll escort their best girls to one of the biggest Sea Scout events of the year, the Bridge of Honor to be staged at Santa Monica for three Scout councils, Orange county, Los Angeles and Santa Monica.

The 40 Orange county lads will be given awards and promotions for achievements at the Bridge of Honor, the next of which will be held in Santa Ana in February, according to Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

A Bridge of Honor in Sea Scout work is similar to a Court of Honor in Boy Scouts, it was pointed out. Byron Quibby, skipper of the Santa Ana group; George Bergen, skipper of the Fullerton ship, and Walter Doheney, skipper of the Huntington Beach group, will lead the Orange county delegation.

Following the awards program, the group will be feted at a dance to be held in La Monica ballroom, Santa Monica.

REPORTS BURGLARS

H. E. Woodruff, Costa Mesa, reported to police Thursday night that his home had been entered by burglars sometime between 6 and 7 p. m. He said the prowlers evidently had been frightened away when he returned home at 7 o'clock, as nothing was missing. A window screen had been pried off.

'Athlete's Heart' Not To Be Feared

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

No doubt many parents whose children have entered high school or college are wondering about the danger from "athlete's heart."

I have written frequently about the danger of permitting a young adult to take part in strenuous competitive games without a thorough physical examination. This is to determine whether any weakened or diseased condition is present.

In these days of X-ray pictures of the heart, accurate measurements of size and capacity, combined with electro-cardiograph readings, there is no occasion for uncertainty in this regard.

Another thing, it is almost physically impossible to damage a healthy heart by too much work or exercise. The athlete usually becomes tired and is compelled to stop before any harm is done.

One of the queer quirks of our minds is our immediate conclusion that the heart was damaged by athletic activity when a young man or woman, who has been outstanding in athletics in college, is incapacitated or dies of heart trouble at the age of 45 or 50. This is not true in many instances. If they did not possess good hearts, they would never have become outstanding athletes.

Some time ago, I had occasion to attend the football reunion of our college football team. None had passed away in all that time. Since then three have died; one from pneumonia, one from kidney disease due to excessive consumption of alcohol through life, and the other from a blood clot in one of the arteries of the heart. None died as a result of strain.

These men did not receive a physical examination before taking up athletics, but they had to have good hearts to stand the strain of the rough game of those days.

Many of that college class who did not indulge in athletics have succumbed to heart disease. You need not fear your son or daughter will develop a so-called "athlete's heart." If the heart is good, strenuous play or work will strengthen it rather than cause subsequent weakness. Be more afraid of lack of exercise, overeating, overweight, infections, and the infective fevers.

Miss Schaible has many friends in Santa Ana to whom the news of the approaching nuptials comes as a surprise.

Protect Skin On These Wintry Days

By JACQUELINE HUNT

December is a month when you must be extra nice to your face. If you want to look fresh and pretty for the holiday parties, you must balance the fatigue by taking better care of yourself. No matter how eager you are to get away for shopping in the mornings, take time enough to apply a protective cream or lotion make-up base before you dash out of the house.

There is an excellent liquid powder that is a time-saver during this busy season. It serves as a make-up base and powder in one.

If you expect to go from work to an evening engagement, try to stop in at a beauty salon and have a pick-up treatment late in the afternoon. If there isn't time for this, the next best thing is to carry a small but complete beauty kit with you and give your face a cleansing and freshening up treatment.

If you go home after your shopping trip, have a warm, relaxing tub bath with a dash of the delightful new bath preparations. Cleanse your face with cream before getting into the tub, and make yourself some Epsom salts solution by dissolving a heaping tablespoon of the salts in 1 cup boiling water. Divide this into two small glass dishes and drop an ice cube into one dish to chill the contents.

Cut a piece of cotton large enough to cover your face and divide into four thin sheets. Moisten two in each dish of salts solution. Lean back in the tub and place the cotton mask moistened in the hot solution over your face until it cools, then take one of the chilled masks and press over your face. Alternate the hot and cold masks for ten minutes, then complete your bath. Rinse your face with cool water and see how rested, pretty and fresh your face has become.

The Friday Afternoon

By DONALD BUTTON

Sunday afternoon Glen Lukens brings work and talk to Bowers Memorial Museum.

Paul Frankl says "You must talk to your material. When you understand it, it will sing for you." Glen Lukens knows his materials, glass and clay. He is ever putting them through new tricks, letting them have full and free expression.

Judges at Syracuse University recently gave him the Robineau prize for the "vibrant singing qualities" of three bowls he entered there.

His "Persian Turquoise" is probably the outstanding contemporary glaze, rivaling the Chinese in splendor.

He places emphasis upon the place of crafts in the new leisure we are to enjoy, through his teaching, his talks such as we are to hear Sunday.

He challenges the machine-age with hands!

Sunday will be a busy day! Some of us will want to hear the Lukens talk (and I recommend it) pause briefly to look upon his work, then dash to Monrovia for Clare Cronenwett's "Flowers for Christmas."

Thursday night at Willard was, for us, bordering upon a preview, for Miss Cronenwett will use two of the outstanding arrangements of that meeting on Sunday.

She brings sound design, practical materials, and a joyous inspiration to an almost-lost art. Those who love flowers, those who need Yuletide decoration help will find Clare Cronenwett's annual exhibition extremely worthwhile.

Exhibitions at Almqvist's so far have been the finished work of established artists.

This week we again turn to a new field, present recent drawings by Arthur Ames and Jean Goodwin's Willard sketch class.

The group includes high-schoolers, grandmothers. Some are professional artists, others have never drawn before.

As a show, it is spontaneous expression. I think you will find it really interesting.

Laguna Beach again presents a "brilliant" exhibition. There are names, much good painting, some bad.

One is immediately impressed with the care Milford Zornes gave to the hanging of it, the natural progression from picture to picture.

Tenney Johnson's "South of the Night" intrigues the ladies.

The poetry of Winifred Newman's "Flora and Fauna" is once again in her "The Riding Academy."

Seymour Paul's "Arrangement Emotional No. 16" is the one thing I found more interesting. It quickens the pulse with deep color, fires the imagination with its depth.

Downstairs Norton Gaston gives character to fish in a series of tempera sketches. His titles, euphonious add to their value.

George Hurrell offers the photography he will show in Los Angeles in January. He has included several camera-portraits that are more than worthwhile.

I was impressed with the strong design, the simplicity of the plates shown by Paramount cameraman, Wilton Carneal. I should like to have his "Stabat Mater."

Another time I should like to discuss the Spectrum club show in the lower gallery more fully. Spectrum is made up of Long Beach business and professional men who paint in "off" hours. Their avocational ability should stimulate the vocational seriousness of some above them!

At any rate, the whole show is worth seeing. And with two months to see it in, well—

PAST HEADS OF D. U. V. ELECT

Yesterday's annual Christmas party of the Past Presidents' organization of the Daughters of Union Veterans was a doubly important and pleasant event, for it combined the customary festivities of the Christmas holidays with the group's annual election of officers.

After a particularly delightful luncheon served by Mrs. A. B. Gardner, who was hostess at her home, 1602 North Broadway, the group convened at a brief business session, during which Mrs. George Smith was elected president for the coming year, and Mrs. Lucella Hill was named to the secretary-treasurership.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to that delightful pastime of exchanging daintily wrapped gifts, chat, and needlework. Mrs. Gardner was assisted throughout the afternoon in the flower-decked livingroom, and in serving at her attractive sweet-pea centered luncheon tables, by her mother, Mrs. A. M. Pendleton, who was a special guest of the club.

Mrs. Jessie Overton, president of the D. U. V., was also an honored guest of the afternoon.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Parker in Tustin. She will be assisted by Mrs. Perry Grout.

Those enjoying Mrs. Gardner's hospitality were Mrs. Pendleton, Mrs. Overton, Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, Mrs. Floss La Bounty, Mrs. Luella Hill, Mrs. Lena Hewitt, Mrs. Bertha Bell, Mrs. Maude Sutton, Mrs. Nellie Parker, Mrs. Luane Leach of Orange, Mrs. Margaret Robertson, Mrs. Esther Gardner, Mrs. Mae Thomas, Mrs. Minnie Cowan, Mrs. Carrie Smith, Mrs. Perry Grout, and Mrs. Eva Bell.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETIES IN JOINT MEETING

Ladies' Aid and missionary societies of the First Presbyterian church combined meetings Wednesday, the members gathering at the church late in the afternoon and remaining for a covered dish dinner between their session and the evening program at the church.

Mrs. H. K. Pollock opened the meeting with piano numbers, and the group joined in singing "Joy to the World," one of their favorite of the Christmas carols. Mrs. J. R. Moore presided for the ladies' aid and Mrs. A. J. Beckman for the missionary society, calling for reports from secretaries and treasurers, which showed conditions to be in excellent shape.

Miss Mary Howard, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A., led devotion, and a lovely musical program followed, a Girl Reserve chorus of 22 voices presenting Christmas carols and other songs. Miss Betty Jane Moore followed with Christmas readings; and Mrs. J. L. Marshall presided over the missionary program, calling for the reading of articles by the Messengers J. R. Goodwin and E. C. McKinstry.

At the dinner in the evening, Rev. Mr. James Stephenson, former pastor of the church, who has been extension secretary in the east for some time, and Mrs. Stephenson were guests of honor. The Stephensons have returned to California, establishing their home in San Jose, and are visiting here this week at the Harry Lewis home on West First street.

STORYTELLING IS CHILD STUDY SECTION TOPIC

Storytelling and puppets made up a most enjoyable program for members of Ebell club's child study section when it met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Glines on North Greenleaf.

Speaker of the evening was Miss Mary Bowyer, Santa Ana children's librarian, who spoke first in general on the subject of story telling and then told two charming little stories to the group.

She also showed the members three of her puppets and explained how to make and manipulate them.

During the business session, the following were named to committee to select the gift from the section to the Ebell club: Mrs. R. C. Harris, chairman; and the Messengers Robert Biles, Cassius Paul, Roscoe Conklin, and Kenneth Ramsey.

Mrs. Glines, assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. Chester Horton, Mrs. John Ebersole, and Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, served dainty refreshments at the close at a table centered with poinsettias and red tapers.

Two guests, Mrs. C. H. Klewer and Mrs. Harold Smith, shared the evening with the members present, who were the Messengers Robert Biles, Roscoe Conklin, Kenneth Conner, John Ebersole, Earl Elson, Aubrey Glines, R. C. Harris, C. H. Holmes, Chester Horton, Harold Moomaw, Newell Moore, George Peterson, Kenneth Ramsey, E. L. Russell, Milo Tedstrom, Robert Wade, and Thoburn White.

LAS GITANAS EXCHANGE GIFTS

Las Gitanas party this week at the home of Miss Anne Borchard near Tustin was a jolly affair, marked by exchange of Christmas gifts among the members of the jaycee women's service club.

Refreshments were served after the meeting, over which Dee Pettit presided. Enjoying the informal evening were the Messengers Pettit, Mary Lib Heany, Anne Borchard, Gerrie Griffith, Genevieve Eustis, Rosemary Flippin, Betty Hill, Barbara Leebach, Marian Mattson, Jean Mulbar, Mildred Pearson, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Dorothy Coe, Audrey McDonald, Jean Maculey, Mary Paxton, Virginia Curry, Helen Meyers, and Eleanor Brady, members of the club, and Miss Carol Erskine and Miss Muriel Anderson, faculty advisors.

At the close of the dinner, a gallon of ice cream, gift of G. F. Angley, head of the Goodwill Industries, was served.

Garden Secrets

By Willis Cadwallader of Blanding Nurseries

"But stronger, I ween, in apparel green,
And trappings so fair to see;
With its precious freight, for small and great,
Is the beautiful Christmas tree."

In every country, the world over, Christmas must have its tree. This symbol probably originated in Germany, for in the town of Altenbergin there stands a statue dedicated to the memory of the man who started the custom.

The early Hessian Pagans were preparing a human offering to a great oak, which was considered the hiding place of the thunder god, Thor. St. Boniface, a Christian missionary from England, suddenly came upon these people just as the little boy was to be killed and ordered the ceremony stopped. The natives were so frightened that when the earnest missionary demanded it, the tree was cut down and lo! beneath the branches of the oak tree stood a young fir tree.

According to the legend, this was the advent of the Christmas tree as part of the Christian ceremony.

Choosing a Christmas Tree
At the opening of Christmas festivities, it is necessary to choose a tree. There are great shipments of trees coming in from Oregon and the middle west, to take care of the large demand. The price range varies from fifty cents up, depending upon the size. They are used for two or three weeks, and discarded, no longer of any use.

It is so easy to own a real, live, growing Christmas tree at a very moderate cost!

These live trees can be had for nearly the same price as the cut trees, and at the close of the season, can be set out into the garden for outdoor trees, or carried over in pots for the following Christmas.

Large growing trees that make ideal Christmas trees are the popular cedar, and several others of the cedrus genus. This genus grows eventually to a height of from 75 to 100 feet.

Pines, redwoods and firs grow to a large size, while the cypress trees attain a height of from 40 to 60 feet. Two of the most popular, fast-growing cypress trees are the Arizona cypress, and the Monterey cypress.

The junipers and arbutus are generally smaller growing trees, averaging from ten to twenty feet. The Lawson cypress ranges from five to twelve feet, and one rock garden variety, the chamal cyparis letinae aurea, remains a very small tree always.

If some other type of tree is more desirable for a certain location, it is not out of place to use any of the live trees, such as bottle trees, laurel trees, or silver trees.

GIRLS PRESENT THREE-ACT PLAY

An interesting event this week was a program presented by a group of the girls living in the juvenile home at 1207 Fruit street. One very talented 17-year-old had written a three-act play, and after several weeks of careful rehearsal, she and other members of the "Seven C's" club of the home presented it before the other young people.

Mrs. Nora Allen and Miss Nettie Crutchfield were special guests of the girls, and enjoyed with them the dainty refreshments served at the end of the dramatic presentation.

QUESTERS HAVE CHURCH SUPPER

Questers had a jolly pot-luck dinner in the lecture room of the Methodist church Tuesday evening gathering at tables which Mrs. Henry Guthrie and Mrs. Anna Allen had decorated in the Christmas colors.

At the close of the dinner, a gallon of ice cream, gift of G. F. Angley, head of the Goodwill Industries, was served.

The 18 members, led by Miss Helen Wiesseman, spent the evening dressing dolls for the Goodwill Christmas boxes.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED AT SHOWER PARTY

Mrs. Merrill Bauer and Miss Ruth Bhatt were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening, at the Bauer home, 1080 West Seventeenth street, honoring Miss Ruby Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Armstrong of El Modena, who will be married on Jan. 6 to William P. Goulden of Alturas, Calif.

The surprise of the evening was the announcement made by one of the hostesses, Miss Burnette, of her engagement to Jack Feather of Orange. Tiny kievie postmen were enclosed in napkins when refreshments were served, bearing the news, "Ruth-Jack 1937." The wedding will take place in early spring, it was announced.

As the affair was an "art party," guests all wore smocks and made pictures for which prizes were given. Awards in this and other games went to Mrs. Martha Feather, Mrs. T. W. Burnette, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, Mrs. H. F. Softley, Mrs. Lee Easterly, Mrs. T. E. Arrowsmith, Miss Ethel Armstrong and Miss Rachelle Softley. Other invited guests were Messdames Cora Gregg, George B. Smith, A. E. Zaph, Donald Burnette, B. J. Morey, Frank Brown, Jack Lampert, Norman Bailey, Lohr Bauer, Henry Witman, Ross Taylor, Misses Gladys Palmer, Margery Armstrong, Lucille West and Joan Softley.

SPORT DANCE FRIDAY FOR TRI-Y'S

Tri-Y's have chosen informality as the theme for their Christmas dance tomorrow night.

The holiday motif will be worked out in decorations for the large hall in the Y. W. C. A., where the girls and their friends will gather at 8:30.

Plans for the dance were completed at the meeting last Monday night, and the dramatic group made arrangements for its program at next Monday's meeting, the last before Christmas.

CLUB MEETS AT RIMEL HOME

Mrs. Betty Howell entertained members of her bridge club and two guests Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Jack Rimel at 1019 North Van Ness, choosing a pretty Christmas motif for her tables and appointments.

Tallying of scores gave first prize to Miss Norma Wilson, and after the card games light refreshments were served at one table centered with red candles and a little green Christmas tree on a mirror.

Places were laid for Mrs. Rimel, Mrs. Robert U. Smith, and the Misses Erlene Farmer, Lucille Howell, and Norma Wilson, members; Miss Betty Vorce and Miss Agnes McKinstry, guests, and the hostess.

Meet Mr. Tom Andrew, Red and White Grocer

We have with us this week Tom Andrew, the Red and White grocer at 608 East Washington street, where he has been operating for several years to the satisfaction of a large clientele, as a 100 per center for the Red and White organization. Tommy takes the grocery business seriously. He is careful in his merchandise selections, attentive to his customers, progressive in his management, and square in his dealings, important elements in any business.

He has been unusually active in the Red and White organization. For the past four years he has attended the western convention of the Red and White stores, and two years was honored as the official delegate for the Santa Ana district. In the rapid changes taking place in the commercial world he has kept pace with the most progressive, as a visit to his store will verify.

RED AND WHITE AIDS GROWERS

Last fall Red and White Food stores made a record in assisting California peach growers to dispose of their crop. By appealing directly to housewives through the columns of newspapers sales were stepped up in some instances as much as four times the normal rate according to B. R. Manker, manager of Smart and Final Company, Ltd., wholesale grocers.

One instance of how peaches were sold in quantities is told in a recent issue of HyLites, the official organ of the Red and White Food stores, which is printed in Chicago and has national distribution.

Builders Install Officers Jan. 12.

Annual installation party of the Orange County Builders Exchange will be held in Santa Ana the evening of Jan. 12, it was announced today by Franklyn E. Smith, secretary-manager, following the monthly meeting of the general membership.

Newly elected officers of the exchange will be seated at the January event, at which wives of exchange members will be entertained with dancing and cards. Officers will make annual reports.

At the membership meeting, held in Hughes cafe, Fullerton, Tuesday, more than 100 members were present. The program was in charge of the floor, tile and furniture crafts. Fred McCandless was chairman of the evening. Entertainment was furnished by a chorus of 30 voices from the Federal Music project, under direction of Dudley Page Harper.

G. O. P. Assembly Meets Saturday

Orange county probably will not have a delegate in attendance Saturday and Sunday when the California Republican assembly board of directors meets in Fresno, according to a check-up here.

Republican leaders said this county does not have a director on the board, and that probably none of the assembly members will make the trip.

Several, however, will attend a meeting of the state Republican central committee called by Justice F. Craemer, Orange publisher.

store to your refrigerator in the best condition. These new devices require additional investments, but are essential if the grocer keeps up with the improvement in merchandizing.

Mr. Andrews owns and operates every department in his Red and White store. He is ably assisted by his brother, Douglas Andrew, who takes an active interest in seeing that service is prompt, and delivery service satisfactory.

In this connection the Andrew store has just purchased a delivery truck, which has been appropriately painted red, and trimmed in white.

Tommy has a hobby. It's his business. He likes the grocery business. But he isn't so selfish about it that he does not have time to do his part of community work. If you are not acquainted with him and his store you will get a welcome, and you will like him and his Red and White store at 608 East Washington street.

While his location may be semi-suburban it isn't so far away that it will not pay you to visit it. It is worth the trip just to make Tommy's acquaintance. You will like to know him and he will like to know you.

Two Kinds of Muffins And Sausage Pie

By RUTH WILSON

Sunday is rolling around again, and with it the desire for "something different for breakfast." Here are a few timely suggestions:

Cinnamon Muffins

Sift together 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add 1 tablespoon sugar, 3/4 cup milk, 1 well-beaten egg and 2 tablespoons melted butter. In the order given, stirring just enough to moisten thoroughly. Put into greased muffin tins and sprinkle the top generously with cinnamon and sugar mixed. Bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes.

Individual Sausage Pies

Sift together 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Work in 3 tablespoons shortening and add 3/4 cup milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on a floured board and knead until the dough is thick. Cut into 4-inch squares. Divide 1/2 pound sausage meat into portions and mold into thin flat cakes. Put one sausage cake on each square of dough and fold the edges around the sausage patties. Bake in a hot oven about 25 minutes. For a luncheon dish, lay a thick slice of tomato on top of each sausage pie before baking. Sprinkle with a little salt and sugar. Serve hot.

Ham Muffins

If you have little earthenware ramekins, use them for these baked eggs. If not heat a small casserole and put in 1 tablespoon butter and when melted add 1/2 cup cream. For 4 servings, slip in 4 or more eggs and season with salt, pepper and cayenne. Bake slowly in the oven until the whites are nearly set, then sprinkle with 4 tablespoons grated Swiss cheese. Serve on buttered toast with any of the sauce that remains in the pans.

No Yule Display For Long Beach

Long Beach won't have any Christmas street decorations, but not because of the parking meters. A spokesman for the Better Business bureau there told The Journal that merchants last summer voted not to put up decorations, declaring that they felt the decorations of last year cost too much and "turned out to be hideous."

He scouted, however, a rumor that the non-decorating decision was in protest over the parking meters installed there. "It's a 50-50 proposition. Some like them and some don't," the bureau spokesman said. "But the decision was made long before the parking meters were ordered."

The China Star

By JOSEPH LEWIS CHADWICK

CHAPTER I

Forward, the China Star's bell struck twice. Nine o'clock in the evening.

Hugh Morley, United States secret service agent, came out on the promenade deck and paused to light a cigarette. His eyes traveled down the deck and narrowed a trifle as he glimpsed the slim, tuxedoed figure of Phil Lon. The youthful, bland Chinese-American was having his evening cigar while he enjoyed a solitary view of the Pacific under a full moon.

Morley was careful not to intrude upon his solitude. He had already had enough of the too-affable Mr. Lon's painfully perfect English.

He had rather hoped to find someone else on deck—explicitly, that attractive young woman who, the pursuer had informed him, was Sylvia Ames. But he was disappointed.

Odd, how interested he was in her. It was not like him to become infatuated, and at first sight at that, while on an assignment.

Morley muttered under his breath as he saw Phil Lon turn and catch sight of him. The Chinese moved toward him, smiling.

"Ah, Mr. Morley—delightful evening . . ."

"Perfect," Morley agreed, grudgingly.

He studied the Chinese face before him—the beady eyes behind spectacles, the high cheekbones, the drooping lips, the receding chin. He did not know quite what to make of Phil Lon. Not that it mattered. His assignment had nothing to do with the man. Or had it?

Phil Lon was looking at him obliquely, grinning. "You were, perhaps, looking for someone?" "What makes you think I was looking for someone?" Morley asked, inwardly irritated by the Oriental's insatiable curiosity.

Lon shrugged his narrow shoulders. "I merely suggested . . ."

Morley looked at him squarely. "Who in his senses do you think I would be looking for?"

Lon still grinned. "This evening, at dinner, I thought I saw you staring at Miss Ames—Miss Sylvia Ames, is it not?"

Morley flushed. So the Chinese had noticed.

"I don't know what you mean," he said, and turned away.

He strode to the smoking room. Lon, not to be shaken, followed him. Morley found a chair in the nearly empty room, and sighed resignedly as the Chinese seated himself beside him.

"What did you say your—your racket was, Mr. Lon?"

The Chinese smiled. "I didn't say. But my racket, as you call it, is soy bean products. I am American trade representative of the Kwantai Exporting company of Manchoukuo."

Soy beans, eh?"

Lon inclined his head. "Yes, I have just been to the Orient to attend a meeting of the company's representatives."

Morley nodded, his interest flagging.

"Mr. Morley—You said your—er—racket was law?" Lon probed.

"Right. Have a small practice in— in Baltimore."

"Vacationing in the Philippines?"

"Combining business and pleasure. My most important client is making a world tour aboard his yacht. Got in trouble in Manila, and I had to come halfway around the world to get him out of the jam."

Morley glanced at the Chinese to see how he was taking his fabrication. Phil Lon's face was inscrutable.

"To bad you are in such a hurry to return to Baltimore. I would have enjoyed having you as my guest in San Francisco."

"What makes you think I'm in a hurry?"

Lon looked owlish. "Your method of arrival aboard the China Star," he said. "Only a man with urgent business would fly out to sea to catch a boat."

Morley was suddenly on guard. Regularly stationed in Manila, he had received cabled orders from Washington to sail aboard the China Star, bound from Shanghai for San Francisco. And the China Star had already left Manila. Hence his airplane flight. As yet, no further orders had come, though he had haunted the radio room.

"You're right," he answered Lon. "I was in a hurry—but only to get aboard this ship."

Lon smiled. "Yes? How interesting."

"Yes," said Morley, and looked deliberately ingenuous. "I was interested in the young lady—Miss Ames. Saw her at the hotel in Manila. Wanted to meet her, but she slipped away before I could wangle an introduction."

Phil Lon gave him a quick glance.

"I thought," he said smoothly, "that Miss Ames boarded the ship at Shanghai."

Just then, a steward entered the smoking room and handed Morley a radiogram. He quickly ripped open the envelope.

The message was, of course, in code. Decoded, it read:

Locate John B. Ellis among passengers. Informed he is Eli J. Brandon, traveling incognito. May be in danger. Further orders later.

Phil Lon rose, too. "Would you care for a drink?"

Morley shook his head. "Later." His pulse quickened as he went in search of the pursuer, Eli J. Brandon. The international financier, his New York banking house had branches in every important city in the world. Brandon was a mystery man, never photographed, seldom quoted in the newspapers.

A little later, Morley, accompanied by the pursuer, entered the cocktail lounge.

"There's Ellis," the pursuer said, nodding in the direction of a short, stocky, gray-haired man at the bar. "If you care to meet him."

Morley shook his head. "Not now, thanks."

He moved to the bar, ordered a drink and studied John B. Ellis. The man was pink-faced and his fresh appearance belied his possible sixty years of age. He was chatting with a swarthy man of about forty whose deeply tanned face was marked by a scar.

Morley's glance wandered across the lounge to the door. He glimpsed Phil Lon's slim figure in the doorway. Then he started. Phil Lon was not alone. He had a dark lovely feminine companion—Sylvia Ames!

Morley saw the girl summon a steward, direct his attention to the bar, and hand him a slip of paper. Then, she and Phil Lon moved on out of the lounge.

Morley, frowning, turned to finish his drink. He saw Ellis and his companion move off toward an exit . . .

"Mr. Ellis?"

The steward was at Morley's elbow. He had mistaken the girl's directions!

Morley hesitated a fraction of an instant. Then, on an impulse, he nodded. The steward handed him a folded bit of paper.

"From the young lady, sir."

Morley reached in his pocket for a coin. After the steward had gone, he stood looking down at Sylvia Ames' note to Ellis.

Wind Holds Up Pest Control

In the desert wind blowing here, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs saw a new delay in the commencement of much needed fumigation for black and red scale on citrus.

Trees, in order to withstand fumigation without burning, must have more moisture or several more nights of cold weather to strengthen them, he said. Pest control operators have been awaiting the signal to go.

The dry wind will weaken the trees and prevent effective fumigation, Tubbs said. A small amount of fumigation of lemons near La Habra has been carried on, but there has been some burning, Tubbs reported.

Avery county, with 200 per cent gain, showed the largest increase in farm tenancy among North Carolina counties during the period 1930-35.

Vanderbilt Horses Arrive at Santa Anita Race Track

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Santa Anita race track, buzzing with activity, received another important shipment of horseflesh today.

The high priced stable of young Alfred G. Vanderbilt, occupying three special cars, pulled on to the Aradia train siding.

Santa Anita officials said the lot included two of Vanderbilt's nominations for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, Gallant Mac, a 5-year-old bay horse, and Sobriety, a 3-year-old chestnut gelding, both of which will carry the colors that the great Discovery fell behind with reason. Vanderbilt, expected to reach Southern California soon, likewise nominated eight colts for the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, Tedious and Victorian Star topping the list.

A total of 352 species and subspecies of birds have been found in North Carolina.

Bob Feller Glad To Remain With Cleveland Club

VAN METTER, Iowa. (AP)—Bob Feller, $100,000 lower by Commissioner K. M. Landis' decision making him the property of the Cleveland baseball club, took the setback in his stride today and kept on with his high school studies.

"Judge Landis' decision," he said, "is fine by me. I'm glad it's all settled and I'm glad to be with Cleveland."

Bob isn't worrying about his salary, but he will ask $20,000 for the 1936 season. "Dad and I talked it over, and that figure looked about right," he explained.

"I want to be fair about it, and I don't intend to hold out for a bonus for signing," he continued, "but, judging by what the other pitchers are getting, I think I ought to be worth that."

The $100,000 "loss" was the amount two major league clubs agreed to pay for Bob's contract if he was made a free agent.

Ditch Digger Made $5000 an Hour by Gold Find

By TED N. BURRELL

While noted for its petroleum products, Orange county's gold history has been rather uninteresting. While this section was still part of Los Angeles county, there was an early discovery of the precious metal in Placeritas canyon, near Newhall, in 1842.

Aside from this find, a comparatively small amount of gold has been found in this region. Mines were worked, supposedly by the mission padres from San Juan Capistrano, in Trabuco canyon, but there is no evidence or record that any vein of gold ore of any value was located by the Franciscan fathers.

$5000 an Hour

However, there was a gold discovery made in Orange county, in Santiago canyon, of over $5000, gathered together after an hour's digging. And, strange to relate, this find was made only about 30 years ago.

The scene of this discovery, a spot in the Santa Ana mountains near the picturesque "Robber's Peak," is northeast of Orange. If gold was to be found anywhere in Orange county, this should have been the spot, as the region is steeped in tradition as being the gathering place of bandits during the bloody days of Joaquin Murietta, the Flores gang, Three-Fingered Pete and other desperadoes of the early 50's, when bandit terrorism was an every-day occurrence in Orange county.

Ditch Digger

According to old records, the story of the discovery goes something like this:

About three decades ago a certain local construction company gave a George Smith, of Santa Ana, a contract to install a concrete pipeline in Santiago canyon. It was during the excavation work on this job that Smith came across his gold find.

Smith made his startling discovery while working with his crew. Keeping his secret to himself, Smith dismissed his men and returned to the scene later alone. After an hour's digging his findings totaled a little over $5000. But here is where the catch comes in. Smith's gold strike was all in $20 gold pieces, none of them bearing a date later than 1856.

Thus Orange county's biggest gold strike was not really Orange county gold, after all, with the possibility that the metal found by Smith might have been mined originally anywhere from Alaska to Timbuctoo.

Onion Patch Gold

The previously mentioned gold discovery made near Newhall in 1842 was almost as incongruous as Smith's $20 gold pieces. This find was made by a Francisco Lopez, majordomo of the San Franciscoquito rancho. While rounding up some stray cattle, Lopez noticed a wild onion patch. Stopping to gather some of the onions, he noticed some peculiar pebbles attached to the roots and saw a glimmer of gold in the sunlight. Within two weeks there were almost a thousand miners in the wild onion patch. No documents have ever been found to prove that any gold had been discovered in the state prior to the onion patch placer field.

'DEFICIT' IN MARRIAGES EXPLAINED

Depression Is Blamed for Slump; Also Blamed in Divorces, Births

CHICAGO, (AP)—Two University of Chicago sociologists held the depression responsible today for a "deficit" of 748,000 marriages, 171,000 divorces and a million births in the United States since 1930.

But the marriage curve definitely is on the upswing, Prof. Samuel Stouffer and Lyle M. Spencer reported in the annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Not only was 1935 the "marriagest and divorcest" year in American history, they said, but preliminary figures indicated 1936 marriages would top last year's total of 1,327,000.

"When business is good, marriage and divorce rates go up," they said. "When it is bad, they go down. As many as a million potential American children went unborn," from 1930 through 1935.

"The marriage rate for 1932 was the lowest in the history of the country since records were established in 1887. In 1932 there were 981,903 marriages in the United States, or 7.86 per 1000 population. This contrasts with the 1929 figure of 1,232,550, or 10.4 per 1000."

SEARS STORES GIVE BONUS

Christmas cheer in the form of a cash bonus was distributed today to 20 employees of the local Sears, Roebuck and company store by George J. Shanahan, manager. All regular employees received the "Jubilee Wage Payment," which consisted of amounts ranging from two weeks to half a week's pay according to terms of service.

Coincident with the distribution of the bonus payments in the local store, similar scenes were being enacted in all of Sears' places of business.

"In my capacity as store manager," Shanahan explained, "I had the privilege of playing 'Santa Claus' and I assure you I enjoyed the role immensely!"

"The past year has been a particularly exciting as well as busy one for all of us at the Santa Ana store. Therefore, it gave me great pleasure to express in this way the appreciation of Sears' officials for the splendid way in which all employees have cooperated."

All regular employees whose period of continuous service extends six months or longer participated in the "Jubilee Wage Payment."

Insurance Men to Greet L. A. Caravan

All insurance men of the county are urged to attend a luncheon meeting of the Orange County Life Underwriters association scheduled for Dec. 14, at 12:15 p. m. in the Green Cat cafe.

The meeting will be attended by a caravan of Los Angeles insurance men, a program has been arranged, with George E. Faires, president, presiding.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana will greet the guests, after which there will be trumpet and vocal music by A. B. Maeder and Gustave Koehler, with the latter leading community singing.

Prominent visitors featured on the program will be Phineas Prouty, jr., Harold Parsons, James Cowles, Ron Stever and Fred C. Hathaway.

Farm Bureau Wins Convention Cups

Orange County Farm bureau yesterday added two new silver loving cups to its trophy shelf as the result of the California Farm Bureau federation convention in Pasadena.

Foothill Farm center for the second successive year won the state prize for largest membership, with 270 farm families enrolled.

Another cup went to the Farm bureau as a whole for the largest attendance at the convention. Attendance figures were not available locally.

To Name Birthday Ball Committees

Committees for the third annual President's birthday ball here will not be named until after Christmas, Postmaster Frank Harwood, general chairman, said today.

There will be ample time between Christmas and Jan. 30, date of the ball, to make all arrangements, he said.

As in previous years, 70 per cent of the proceeds will be used to finance local orthopedic and infantile paralysis work, and 30 per cent will go to the Warm Springs foundation, Georgia.

BOOTLEGGING CHARGED
There still is an occasional bootleg case. Gregorio Avalos, 43, of Los Alamitos, was lodged in the county jail yesterday charged with manufacturing and selling beverages without a license. He was arrested by officers of the board of equalization, who said he had been supplying "home brew" to Mexicans in his vicinity.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

(Having been called away on what is said to be a journalistic business, Brick Gaines today reluctantly turned over his column to Rich Bradshaw. The red-headed fisherman left a hasty note for his readers, however, in which he pleaded with them not to desert him. Brick said he would be back tomorrow to gather up the wreckage and build up his column again.)

GALLOPING James is gadding. He'll probably come back with a new fish story, if not a fish. He went out in all that wind, too, when he could have stayed in the office where folks were blowing off their opinions about the king's abdication.

These winds, by the way, have been blowing for a good many years in this section. Folks used to take them more philosophically, though. They had a lot of fun with winds.

When the country was more open, and there weren't so many orange groves, tumble weeds grew to mammoth size. There were lots of them, too. L. J. Garmsay, whose family gave Garmsay street its name, was a boy then.

Garmsay says the kids used to lie in wait for tumble weeds. When a big one would come along, one of the kids would start pacing it. The wind blew fast in these days and they raised boys who could run, too. As other tumbleweeds came along, other boys started racing them. The game was to see who could stick with his tumbleweed the longest.

Often, says Garmsay, the boys got so far away from the school house racing tumbleweeds at the lunch hour, that it was impossible for them to get back in time for the afternoon session. This, it is understood, the boys regretted very keenly. But there wasn't much that could be done about it.

Garmsay is one of the best story tellers in this section when he deals with these early days. He can spin yarns by the hour. For years he ran a ranch at De Luz in San Diego county, about 17 miles east of Fallbrook. In recent years he has been with the Huntington hotel at Pasadena. There he has been a sort of friend to the friendless tourist. The Easterner meets him and listens to his yarns about the West. Garmsay can tell him plenty. Maybe he chuckles in his sleeve once in a while as the Easterner swallows a big one; but then, that's the kind the tourist wants to hear when he comes to the Wild and Woolly West.

But when it comes to Orange county and Southern California history, you can't beat Bill McPherson.

Bill knows. He's got a library of books on the West that isn't equalled in these parts. And he's a walking encyclopedia himself, but he doesn't talk like one.

Take a ride with Bill McPherson anywhere in Southern California and he'll enliven every mile with entertaining accounts of its great moments. He'll tell you the family histories that have been lived in and about the pioneer homes you pass.

He'll tell you almost anything you want to know. And he knows people everywhere.

One of his specialties is Indian ceremonials. And if you didn't know it, Southern California Indians still stage their tribal rites on the reservations. But these events are rapidly fading away.

I'll never forget a ceremonial Bill McPherson, Don Meadows and I attended. We had a hard time getting in, and we discovered that the Indians were dead set against photographs. They didn't even want visitors to take notes. We were allowed to stay, but we respected the Indians' wishes. After having a pow-wow with about 30 or 40 of them, we decided they meant what they said regarding notes and pictures.

A fellow from the Huntington library, named Bynum, didn't fare so well. Somehow, he missed our party and breezed into the ceremonial grounds by himself. Not having learned about the taboo on notes and photos, he pulled out his notebook and began scribbling. His camera also was in evidence. Almost immediately he found himself in earnest conversation with some of the Indian leaders. They used forceful language and he became impressed with the fact that he has persona non grata. It wasn't any use then, to promise to be good. He was through. He was allowed to keep his camera, after emptying it of all films. But his notebook became a souvenir for the Indians.

Bynum went away from there very fast.

Just the same the Southern California Indians are a mighty friendly, hospitable group of people. Treat them right and they'll treat you right. They won't stand for monkey business at their ceremonials any more than other folks stand for it in their places of reverence. But they'll be mighty friendly if you'll give them a chance.

And here comes Galloping Gaines, back from his gadding. I'll turn the remains of his column over to him again. You'll hear from him tomorrow at the usual hour. I'll bet he has something to say about fish.

Tune in and see.

PACIFIC COAST TRAILER CONVENTION SOUGHT FOR H. B.

FIRST ANNUAL CONCLAVE IS PLANNED

Gallienne Heads Drive To Obtain Meeting For Beach City

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Trail-blazer in a trailer-age, Huntington Beach today was considering plans to hold the first Pacific coast trailer convention on its scenic seaside trailer camp grounds early next spring.

Capable of caring for 1000 house-cars of the nation's nomads on its ocean front grounds with healthful ease, and with room for many more within the city limits, this Southern California center of black gold and beautiful beaches has everything, including an all-year summer climate, to make it an ideal host for travelers, according to W. H. Gallienne, executive secretary of the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce.

Far-sighted city officials have outlined a program which will make the local trailer camp one of the outstanding vacation spots on the Pacific coast. For the past several years improvements pointing toward perfection of an ideal trailer camping spot have been carried out, until this year visitors in their moving homes almost swamped the seaside beauty spot.

Ideally located beside the surf, the local camp ground is expected to draw hundreds of visitors during the spring and summer, and if the trailer convention is obtained for Orange county, national publicity will be obtained for Huntington Beach. From the event, Secretary Gallienne said today.

FIREMEN FIGHT TWO BLAZES

ORANGE.—State Forestry trucks were called out twice Thursday to put out fires, Forest Ranger Joe Scherman reported, with damage negligible in each case.

Brush and grass blazing along Garden Grove road south of First street endangered a pasture and stock near by, Scherman reported, but was soon extinguished.

At 2 o'clock a call was received that peat land south of Westminster, along the railway, was on fire. Someone burning brush near had evidently let the fire get out of control, and the water was hauled by the Orange and Midway City forestry trucks to quench the blaze.

Editors and Their Opinions

A digest of ideas from Orange county newspapers, reprinted as being of interest to readers of The Journal.

HOW ABOUT THOSE NOW OLD?

(Brea Progress)

There is nothing whatever included in the federal social security act, which becomes effective on Jan. 1, for those millions of persons, who are old now, and who have been so hopeful that a plan might be developed that would make their declining years more cheerful. Many of those millions of citizens, now old, will be in their graves prior to the federal social security plan becoming effective. In the meantime, what?

If a young man, now employed, starts paying on Jan. 1 in to the federal social security fund, by the time he is 65 years old, he will be eligible for an old age pension from the fund somewhere between 1970 and 1990. If he is 55 today and is employed until he is 65, he will receive a pension, but pitifully insufficient. It's all built for the future, the most of it for the far-off future; nothing for the aged of today.

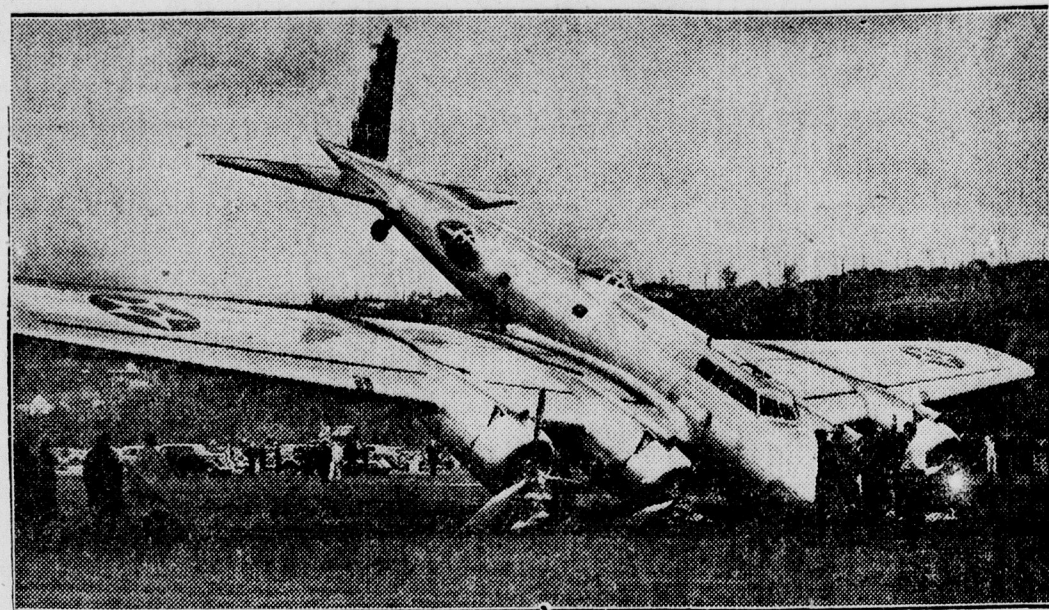

What of the old age pension plan, in which so many of the old folks have developed such fine, consistent belief? Nationally the schemes are shot to pieces, right now. In some localities, especially in Southern California, there is still a belief that the plan may yet succeed. But many of these, when it comes to talk with them, admit the future from an old age pension viewpoint is dark. Maybe they built too strongly. Maybe this idea, which became almost a religion for most of them, was deceptive without any understanding on their part of it being so. They were imbued with the oldtime formula, "Believe and you will be saved," financially in your old years.

Let it be admitted that Dr. Townsend has been earnest in his endeavors; that if he has made mistakes, they evolved directly from the fact that he is honest. But now must he be the goat? He must answer to a contempt charge in congress. That is to be pressed. It is understood he must answer to an "accounting" charge in federal court at Cleveland, Ohio. Many of those, supposedly elected to office as his followers, were in that role for votes only. It was too bad for him that he got mixed up in the national mind with Gerald Smith and Father Coughlin.

But right now how about the old folks, who are old now? Where are they sitting? Perhaps not "settling pretty."

Experts judge butter not only by its flavor but also by its body or texture.

How Newest Bomber Landed on Its Nose

Here's the army's new bomber, the 16-ton Boeing YB-17, just after it skidded and came to rest on its nose when its air brakes apparently locked on landing from a test flight at Seattle. Two of its crew were slightly injured. It was reported that the damage to the plane would be repaired shortly. (Associated Press Photo)

GUN COMPLAINT WANTED---FIVE GIRLS! 'BACKFIRES' Seek Beauties for Beach Float

LAGUNA BEACH.—Francis Burroughs of Laguna Beach phoned police yesterday.

"Help!" he shouted. "Two drunk or crazy men are locked up in my house with my wife, two children and a shotgun, and won't let me in!"

Deputy Sheriff's R. G. McKelvey and James Workman rushed to the scene in Laguna canyon. They walked carefully up to the front door of Burroughs' house.

Inside they found Floyd Vanschuyver of Rialto and Aaron Rhodes of San Bernardino. Sure enough they had a shotgun. One shell had been fired.

"Burroughs," they told the officers, "was brandishing the gun at his wife. We took the gun away from him and wouldn't let him back in. It went off once in the scuffle, but nobody got hurt."

The officers took the gun back to neighbors from whom Burroughs had borrowed it. They gave the two visitors a lift to Santa Ana. And they told Burroughs to quit waving guns.

UNITED HELD FOR WAR VETERAN

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Taps was echoing in the hearts of Orange county coastline Legionnaires today who paid their last respects with military honors to a soldier of the Civil War, Lester H. Young, at his funeral Wednesday.

Three Legion posts; Huntington Beach, Costa Mesa and Newport Harbor, joined together in bearing to his final resting place the last survivor of the 24th Regiment of the Infantry of Civil War fame. Services at Fairhaven cemetery were read by Chaplain of the 5th Area of the American Legion, H. C. Reid, Huntington Beach.

Born in New York in 1846, the young soldier stood on the field at Gettysburg and heard Lincoln give his immortal address, and in his later years repeated those words at Decoration Day ceremonies in many Orange county schools.

ROTARY HEARS OF TELESCOPE

ORANGE.—Mrs. Jennie L. Tesson, faculty member of Santa Ana Junior college, told of the 200-inch telescope to be installed on Palomar mountain, when she spoke before the Rotary club Thursday.

When the grant was made from the Rockefeller institute, no mention of the cost was made, she said, as it was decided to build the giant telescope while the depression was in full sway, and an announcement that the cost would be $6,000,000 to the institute would cause antagonism. She told of grave concerns made in astronomy since 1610, when the first telescope was used.

Dr. Robert B. McAulay was program chairman.

Newport School Play Planned

Mrs. Carl Bergner is in charge of arrangements for the festival, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Mrs. Mills Cowling, Mrs. Harry Letson, Mrs. Bruce Tanner, Mrs. Joseph Betschart, Mrs. John Stinson, Mrs. Allen Young, Mrs. George Harding, and Mrs. W. F. Slater and members of the Queen Esther society.

Mrs. Katherine Kingsbury, president of the Woman's club, greeted the guests and members of the club served luncheon at the noon hour. Escorted by Gail Hamilton, president of the Huntington Beach Garden club, the visitors were taken to the beach city for a tour of gardens.

DOT AND DAN IN SANTALAND

THEATER PARTY HONORS GIRLS

COSTA MESA.—The annual theater party for girls who have completed their first Campfire requirements was held this week when a group of 50 girls from the local troupe went to a Huntington Beach theater.

Miss Muriel Hendershot and Miss Rose Merryweather, Campfire guardians, were in charge, transportation being furnished by the local elementary school bus. Prof. Henry Abrams accompanied the party.

LETTER ON PEACE WINS CHRISTMAS PRIZE

Merry Christmas, kids! It's Uncle Bob again, with another winner in The Journal-KVOE Christmas letter contest.

Here's what he says: "What I think about Santa Claus and Christmas is that I think it is a time of peace. People are not fighting on this day, and since this is a time of peace I wish we could have it for a whole year. I don't want my dad to have to go away to war and be shot like all the men in Europe did in the other war. I like all the other things about Christmas too, like presents,

LETTER ON PEACE WINS CHRISTMAS PRIZE

Merry Christmas, kids! It's Uncle Bob again, with another winner in The Journal-KVOE Christmas letter contest.

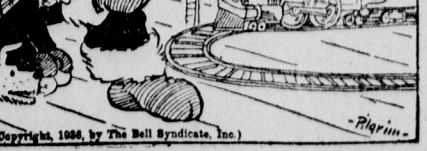

Young Richard Heineke of Santa Ana wins first prize in today's contest because of the most unusual letter he wrote Uncle Bob. It's really a very thoughtful letter for a little boy who's only 10 years old.

Here's what he says: "What I think about Santa Claus and Christmas is that I think it is a time of peace. People are not fighting on this day, and since this is a time of peace I wish we could have it for a whole year. I don't want my dad to have to go away to war and be shot like all the men in Europe did in the other war. I like all the other things about Christmas too, like presents, and the Christmas tree and things, but that's what I really think."

That's an awfully good letter. Uncle Bob was glad to get it, and he is glad to give the prize to Richard. Why don't you all write a letter and win a prize? It's easy! Just listen in at 15 minutes to six over KVOE and Uncle Bob will tell you another story or two about Christmas, and read you the adventures of Dot and Dan in Santaland.

So sit down and write me a letter—Y. I want one of these to win $1 savings account in the First National bank. You can mail it to Uncle Bob, at The Journal or KVOE, or drop it in one of the Christmas letter boxes downtown, at The Journal, the First National bank, or the offices of KVOE, 315 North Broadway. I'll be hearing from you!

PLURALITY OF ROOSEVELT IS RECORD

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A tabulation yesterday of official election returns, four days before the presidential electors ballot in their state capitals, gave Roosevelt and Garner a record plurality of 11,069,612.

The 45,812,165 votes cast for all candidates represented an unprecedented increase of 15.06 per cent over the 1932 total. The increase from 1928 to 1932 was 8.2 per cent.

The 27,751,612 Democratic votes represented 60.7 per cent of the total, against 57.3 four years ago. Landon and Knox, with 16,681,913 votes, polled 36.4 per cent against 39.6 for Hoover and Curtis in 1932.

Others won 1,378,630 votes for 2.9 per cent against 3.1 in the last election.

Of the 48 states, only Rhode Island has not made an official tabulation. The voting machines there have been locked up in recount proceedings, so the unofficial returns were used in this tabulation.

U.S. LEADERS HAPPY OVER REVENUE

Administration Hopes to Close Large Gap in Income and Outgo

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Substantial revenue increases during the first five months of this fiscal year today raised administration hopes that the seven-year gap between income and outgo may be closed next year.

Administration leaders have forecast the improving business will boost receipts to the level of expenditures if the present tax structure is maintained.

Uptrend to Continue

There has been no definite statement, however, that the budget will be balanced next year.

Surveying income from last July 1 through Nov. 27, fiscal experts said today that the uptrend, plus some reduction in relief expenditures would balance receipts and spending next year.

Receipts for this period totaled $1,623,043,000, an increase of $171,981,000 over a year ago. In the forefront of individual tax increases were income levies, which at $418,508,000, gained $91,496,000.

Expect Large Revenue

Questioned at his press conference this week, Secretary Morgenthau said March tax receipts would be "very large," and "up to expectations." This was taken to mean that revenues for this year will reach the $5,642,760,000 estimate, or $1,626,804,000 over last year.

Besides pouring more cash into federal coffers, fiscal experts pointed out that a continued business upswing will reduce the relief load.

Deficit Still Large

Thus far, the Roosevelt administration's deficits have about matched the sums expended for "recovery and relief." Through Nov. 27, this year's deficits stood at $1,230,000,000 and emergency expenditures at $1,146,000,000.

Authoritative treasury sources said that reductions in expenditures next year can be accomplished by restricting emergency activities.

Slightly higher budget estimates are anticipated for "regular" government activities, they explained, because national defense, social security and other long range programs already under way anticipated increased outlays in 1937-38.

Ship Strike Holds Up Bridge Work

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Engineers announced that work on a secondary approach of the Golden Gate Bridge is being held up because workmen cannot obtain piling, due to the maritime strike here.

MORE ABOUT J. C. CHAMPS

mous choice. The players recognized in the Garden Grove sophomore a fullback and quarterback whose cool passes and hard drives accelerated Santa Ana's attack in touchdown territory. Fred Erdhaus and Bill Greschner, all-conference selections at end and quarterback, were named the second and third most valuable, respectively. Ray Devine, Howard Rash, Co-Capt. Al Titensor and Carl Benson received scattering votes.

Mercurio, who will be eligible next fall, broke loose on several fine runs in his freshman year, and should be a genuine threat as a sophomore. Coaches Bill Cook and Blanchard Beatty believe. He was extended in the voting by Charley Mueller, ace blocking halfback from Tustin.

The climax to Santa Ana's successful season will come with the holding of the chamber of commerce banquet at the Masonic temple next Wednesday night. Reservations, limited to 400, may be made at Platt's Auto Service, 516 North Main St., or at the Good store, or with Committeemen W. H. Spurgeon, Jr., George Baker and Calvin Flint. Tickets also may be purchased at Joe Steele's barber shop.

Lehnardt and Mercurio will be awarded trophies by the Associated Students. The presentations will be made at the public banquet.

Penny Put on Desk 15 Years Ago Still There

SAN ANTONIO, (AP)—A penny has lain on top a desk at the city hall for 15 years. Janitors didn't use it. Occasionally somebody picks it up for a solo game of "heads and tails." But they always put it back to the intense interest of a woman employee. She put the penny on the desk "to see how long it would stay there."

These three sisters won't get injured. One of the new girl crossing guards is on duty. The little girl, made of wood and paint at the instigation of Officer J. W. Foster, is cautioning motorists to drive slowly and avoid striking the trio. Similar guards are stationed at a number of other crossings as an experiment. The trio crossing the intersection toward Roosevelt school on First street is composed of Dolores Rudolph, 6, and her twin sisters, Harriette and Charlotte, 5, of 521 East Pine street.

Willard Junior High News

In the east hall of Francis Willard, arrangements have been made to have 11 show cases displaying the work of students. Each month the cases rotate so as the teachers will have a variety. It is the policy to have the show cases filled at all times.

One of the outstanding exhibits is sponsored by the Raitt dairy and the Arden Milk company. Included with different types of milk are many pictures of the dairy farms and the process of pasteurizing milk. There is also a wide variety of healthful products of milk.

There are two cases contributed to Miss Libby's art classes. One is of designs of fish, ships, animals, and houses, while the other exhibits the imaginary charcoal drawings of jungle life. Two of these drawings received awards for first and second prize in the Garden club of Orange county contest.

Also included in the exhibits are many beautiful pictures of the California redwood forests, and in the same case are many small blocks of wood of different species from all parts of the world.

Miss M. J. Steel's vocation class has many articles contributed to the cases such as a miniature oil derrick built by Douglas Brays, who is interested in oil geology. Electrical engineering and a wide variety of other vocations are also represented.

At the southern end of the hall there are many trophies won by Willard students in track, baseball, football and other contests.

Monday, Dec. 14 will mark the beginning of the rotation schedule for Willard. For many years the faculty and students have liked this method; it has been used before. In it is provided a different period order for every day of the week, preventing students from lagging in a subject due to having it at the most tiring time of day.

Mrs. Smith, Miss M. J. Steel, Mr. Schmid and Mr. Lund, of the Willard faculty, visited the Belvedere Junior high and the Hollenbeck Junior high schools in Los Angeles, Wednesday, Dec. 8. Miss Steel and Mrs. Smith were especially interested in social and discipline problems. Miss Steel stated that one of the schools visited, had a student government very similar to Willard's.

Mr. Lund stated that one day a week is taken from the P. E. classes and devoted to the study of physical education, and that he would like to organize a similar program. Mr. Lund commented, "The Willard boys look much huskier than in other schools."

Mr. Mitchell today announced that the eighth and ninth grade boys' glee clubs will devote the latter 15 minutes of the period each to the singing of popular songs. This was greeted with much interest by the boys, who have been wanting to sing popular songs for some time.

A play by the high school drama class, directed by Mr. Swarthout, was the main feature of an eighth and ninth grade assembly given Dec. 11, sponsored by Miss Glancy. The program was opened by Irma Baxter, accompanied by Miss Glancy, who sang two vocal solos. A former Willard student, Mrs. Shirley Lindgren Waddle, gave a medley of popular piano numbers. Velma Stroud, who graduated from Willard only last year, followed with a song and dance.

A costume dance to be given during the Christmas holidays was planned at the last meeting of the Nos Amiel Latin club held at the home of Aileen Smith, Dec. 8. Dues of 10 cents a month will be collected from each member to defray expenses. A special is to be held at the home of Hean Conliffe Thursday, Dec. 17, to vote in new members. Refreshments were served to Connie O'Donnell, Phyllis Bemis, Barbara Flower, Jean Con-liffe, Rosemary Blodgett, Katherine Hambricht, Aileen Smith and Frances Page.

The low seventh grade food classes instructed by Miss Fitz are learning how to make gingerbread men for Christmas. The low eighth graders are going to begin this week on fancy cookies. The cutters used were made by Mr. Hicks' metal shop and are different shapes such as balls, trees, animals, stars and flowers.

The ninth graders are making German cookies and fruit salads in fancy shapes such as stars, flowers and butterflies. The fruits used are pears, dates and grapes. Next week they will make bonbons.

The low eighth grade craft class is making wooden boxes and book ends for Christmas presents according to Miss Libby, art advisor. The ninth grade classes are cutting linoleum block prints this year, with which they plan to print personal Christmas cards to send to their friends and relatives. The activities in these classes will end Friday, Dec. 18, which will also start Christmas vacation.

Burrill Lee will preside as president of the recently organized Parliamentary Law club which will meet every Tuesday noon in room 112 with Mrs. Low acting as advisor. Hugh Brooks was elected vice-president; Mary Toyoda, secretary; Irene Barp, treasurer.

"The subject of this club is to acquaint its members with the usage of parliamentary procedure and to give them the opportunity to practice it," Mrs. Low said. No social parties or gatherings will be held.

Charter members are Clara Betty, Hugh Brooks, Irene Barp, Talmadge Cook, Jean Hoyte, Helen Garnett, Harry Harlow, Burrill Lee, Rowland Partridge, Mary Toyoda, Flo Plaven and Irma May Yudel.

Pledges include Betty Jo Froehle, Mary Jo Hassell, Sally Treiman, Bruce Adkinson, Lucille Crawford, Patty Rossi, Billy Love, Mary Hunter, Jean Conliffe, Lucille Andrew, Henry Segerstrom, Marion Kenyon, Mary Markel, Helen Holzgrabe, Barbara Flower and Juanita Caudell.

Dec. 10th the low 7 food class completed a series of three breakfasts given in the home economics dining room. The class was divided into three groups, waitress, cooks, and guests. Those taking part were as follows: guests, Ophelia Floris, Nellie Madrigal, Romona Lora and Eva pimental; waitresses, Esther Ruiz, Carmen Sanchez, Lupe Bracamontes, Margaret Negroto and Nora Charez; cooks, Rita Loguna, Rowz Rios, Mary Mendoza, Mercy Cruz and Rosita Gonzales.

The menu included fruit cup, hot cereal and graham muffins, followed by some hot coccomalt. The class will invite their mothers some time in January, but the date is not certain as yet.

STABILIZING FUND TO BE EXPANDED

To Be Balance Wheel for the Movement of Foreign Money

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Administration fiscal experts are studying far reaching plans for expanding operations of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to make it a balance wheel against foreign capital movements as well as a steady mechanism for the dollar.

Authoritative sources reported today that consideration is being given to revamping the fund along the lines of the British equalization fund, which is used to prevent fluctuations of foreign capital from affecting the domestic credit structure.

The present plans, still in the "study stage," call for use of the stabilization fund to "sterilize" gold imports.

Control Measures
Concerned over possible adverse effects of the continued capital inflow on domestic credit and prices, President Roosevelt recently asked the treasury, the federal reserve board and the securities commission to determine what, if any, control measures were necessary.

The potential danger of foreign capital inflows to domestic economy is two-fold. When the "alien funds" enter the country, they tend to increase prices and expand credit. Sudden withdrawal might exert strong downward pressure on both prices and credit.

Would Borrow

The inward movement of foreign capital is measured largely by gold imports. The treasury now pays for these in cash, reimbursing itself through issuance of certificates against the purchased gold. Under plans being studied, the stabilization fund would be authorized to borrow to pay for the imports. Thus, when gold flowed in, it would take funds from the money market equal to the inflow.

F. D. R. Forced Off Front Page

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad. (AP) President Roosevelt landed at Port-of-Spain today for a four-hour visit before starting the last lap of his trip homeward.

He came ashore from the cruiser Indianapolis after receiving newspapermen and officials aboard the ship.

The President declined to comment on the abdication of King Edward, a subject which occupied most of the front-page space in the newspapers in this British-ruled island, forcing accounts of Mr. Roosevelt's visit to inside pages.

Hired Man Sought In Woman's Death

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The body of Mrs. Arthur C. Utterback, 33, wife of a Wichita federal land bank auditor, was found today in a pit on the Utterback farm, near Mulvane, Kan., by Sheriff Frank Boone and deputies.

Sheriff Boone immediately ordered a search for Joe Cain, hired man, who disappeared from the Utterback farm Wednesday night after telling Mrs. Utterback's step-sister, Harriet Gilbert, 13, the woman had come to Wichita with friends.

Townsend Plans To Post Bond

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend is arranging to post a $1000 cash bond here for his appearance in answer to a Washington indictment, Edward J. Margret, chief of the Townsend plan's national organization work, said today.

A nationally known attorney probably will be retained, Margret added, to defend the pension leader in the action which resulted from his refusal to testify further before a congressional investigating committee last summer.

Cousins Die in Chair for Murder

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Sam Anderson and Sam Powell, 26-year-old cousins, were electrocuted here today for the slaying of W. A. Daniel, a taxi driver, last January. The men, who admitted beating and shooting their victim to death to steal his automobile, blamed "liquor and the hard life" for their plight.

IDENTIFY SLAIN WOMAN
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A woman's body, found in a rubbish heap near Temple City, Nov. 27, was tentatively identified today as Jeanne Amiard, 40, former maid.

Postoffice Open Until 6 o'Clock On Saturday

Good news for Christmas shoppers: The stamp and parcel-post windows at the postoffice will remain open until 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Postmaster Frank Harwood announced that this closing hour will be maintained for the convenience of persons mailing Christmas gifts and cards. The same closing hour will be observed on Dec. 19.

Will Sing Here Next Month

One of the most famous radio voices of the present day is that of Nelson Eddy, above, whose concert in Santa Ana on Jan. 2 will mark the opening of five-months concert course being sponsored in the city by Musical Arts club. Four other concerts have been scheduled during the first four months of 1937, and all will be staged in the Santa Ana High school auditorium.

COUNTY HAS HARBOR BUT NO FLOATING DEBT

Despite the fact that Orange county has one of the finest harbors along the Southland coastline, it has neither any tax-exempt vessels nor any floating debt, listed on the state report of county property values and taxation rates. The fact that the county has no tax-exempt vessels arises from the fact that all craft in Orange county harbor are taxed in the port of their origin, which in most cases is elsewhere.

And the fact that the county has no floating debt has nothing to do with the harbor, just as a pun really has nothing to do with a news-article lead.

Orange county does have a grand total of $186,680,200 worth of property subject to local taxation, however, of which nearly two-thirds, or $104,264,040 is real estate, and $53,771,610 in improvements on this real estate. Contrasted with this vast amount of property valuation is the fact that the money in the county—money and personal property—amounts to only $20,217,600, plus a little matter of $8,898,510 in property exempt from taxation. But considering the fact that Orange county procured its harbor over a period of nearly 50 years, at a total cost running well up toward $15,000,000, it does seem funny the county hasn't any floating debt—or tax-exempt vessels.

Hostesses Get Headaches At Capital Dinners Over Seating of Guests by Rank

(Editor's Note: Tyrannically ruled by convention, official dinner tables in Washington are more than just a family eating center. Precedence of rank holds full sway when it comes to seating our own and foreign government officials. In his primer for congressional newcomers, Eddy Gilmore of the Associated Press Washington Bureau surveys the situation and adds a bit of advice.)

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Lucky is the capital newcomer who escapes unscathed the barbed wires of convention surrounding an official dinner table.

Just to show how serious it is, diplomatic relations have been strained between great nations because a visiting mayor slid in ahead of a grand duke in the march to the dining room.

New senators and representatives who are mapping big entertainment offensives should remember that it's not the domestic guests but the diplomats who pack the real social dynamite.

How They Rate
Assuming the President or a foreign sovereign won't be at the party, here is a precedence list with a minimum of etiquette mortality:

Foreign ambassadors.
The chief justice.
The vice president.
Speaker of the house.
Supreme court justices.
Secretary of state.
Foreign ministers.
Cabinet members.
Senators.
Representatives.

The list extends to the near infinity of state assemblymen, third secretaries and visiting firemen, but if the dinner is going to be done up that brown, it's time to start a flanking movement aimed at capturing chefs and waiters.

Headache for Hostess
As innocent as it looks, even a dinner confined to senators can produce a bombardment of headaches for the hostess.

Here, as elsewhere, everything is based on length of service. But recent landladies have brought a lot of lawmakers to the capital together. Confronted with such a group, the hostess should seat her guests according to the admission of their respective states into the Union.

Should there be an impasse of gentlemen from the original 13 states, the poor dinner-giver either goes down in a faint or digs up the last census figures and seats them according to state population. Maybe the new arrival ought to chuck the whole business and give a fish fry on the Potomac.

MAKES BIG CANDY DEAL

Boy Gets Overweight Sack

A small boy who thought he was being overcharged for a nickel's worth of chocolate drops was getting tough about it.

Detective Lieut. Charles Wolford arrived on the scene and found the doubting young man weighing the drops on the store scale. He found there was 7 cents' worth in the sack he'd paid a nickel for. That cooled the youngster off, Wolford reported.

SELECT C. OF C. CHIEF
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Byron C. Hanna was in nomination today for the president of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce during 1937. His election, which will be uncontested, will take place Jan. 13.

SALESMAN JAILED
Charged with drunk driving, and violation of the county drunk ordinance, Francis J. Fisher, 37, Los Angeles salesman, was booked at the county jail yesterday afternoon by California highway patrol officers.

CREW IS RESCUED
BOSTON. (AP)—Boston coast guard headquarters reported today a tug from St. John, New Brunswick, had removed the crew of the Norwegian steamer Kings County which had wirelessly it was in trouble near St. John.

DECIDE SHOW MOTIF
SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—The decorative motif for the twenty-seventh National Orange show will be "Gay Hollywood." It was announced today by Arthur H. Bruse, president. It will be held Feb. 18 to 28.

Why Not Try the Peaceful Way?

NEWPORT HARBOR will be bottled up as tight as San Pedro by maritime strikers if an attempt is made to land freight or passengers there. And there'll probably be plenty of bloodshed and violence.

This is the threat made by an official of the San Pedro joint central strike committee.

He hurls the warning in answer to the proposal that the county grand jury invite the steamship companies to use the harbor to break the strike.

There is no reason to doubt his threats. Waterfront workers are a tough bunch when aroused. Remember the riots in 1934 in San Francisco.

Might doesn't make right, however. And we are inclined to think that this chip-on-the-shoulder attitude of the striking unions and shipowners is starting to grate on the public.

This business of fighting it out regardless of cost—while a food shortage threatens in Hawaii, millions are being lost in coastal cities and by industry, and striker families are suffering want—is most unfortunate.

If there were no other way out, one side or the other would eventually have to take a beating, of course.

Fortunately, there is a way that appears to offer justice to both the unions and shipowners and peace to the innocent public.

That is the compromise plan, suggested by the San Francisco News, and printed in this column two weeks ago. It merely involves the establishment of an independent port committee to handle the hiring halls, in place of having them in the hands of either the unions or the shipowners.

It's much better than trying to break the strike by the use of Newport harbor or than trying to sustain it by making a shambles out of the area.

If a few stubborn men continue to block fair settlement of the strike they must bear the blame when the people lose patience.

In order to carry out the military theme for Christmas, maybe Santa should bring each one of those street decoration soldiers a bayonet for the end of his rifle and a couple of hand grenades.

What Price Adventure?

TWO attractive English girls and the father of one are probably conscience-stricken now as thousands die in Spain. They rescued General Franco from the island of Tenerife, where he was hiding from Spanish authorities, flew him to Casablanca, where he organized the Fascist revolt.

The rescue party was composed of Diana Pollard, Joan Watson and Maj. Hugh Pollard, the noted British firearms expert. To them it was probably just an adventure.

A book, "Storm Over Europe," gave a prominent Spanish monarchist the inspiration, a devilish inspiration, as it turned out. The monarchist asked the author, Douglas Jerrold, to get an adventurous, reckless man and two reckless girls for the job. The major, his daughter and her girl friend were chosen.

Posing as tourists, they flew to French Morocco, thence to Las Palmas, where General Franco was hiding in a gunboat from Spanish officials. Then they took him to Casablanca. Civil war soon began.

So the fate of nations, of thousands of people, was decided by three adventure-seekers.

There have always been adventure-seekers and probably always will be. Many have helped mankind. Columbus is an example of the latter group. Of this kind we can feel proud.

But for the Major Pollards we hold no such feelings. They consider nothing but their thrills of the moment, giving no thought to possible consequences and evil to their fellow men.

"Why doesn't Santa Claus get his whiskers trimmed?" asked little Willie. "Don't worry," growled Pa, "the Santa Claus of our family will get trimmed plenty."

Britain's New King

LONG live King George VI. May he have a longer and happier reign than his predecessor.

Under the new ruler, the leaders of the British Empire may find the conservative policy and action for which they looked in vain in Edward VIII.

Edward was too interested in the common people for his own good, according to his powerful critics.

His visits to the mines and to the homes of the poor—where he protested violently against the squalor and misery; his contrasting of the luxury for the passengers on the Queen Mary and the hardships of the crew; his desire to marry a foreign divorcee—all these liberal tendencies gripped the steady, cautious business men and politicians behind the throne with alarm.

So they forced Edward to abdicate.

It is likely that George VI will meet their approval. As the Duke of York, he has been a quiet, self-effacing prince.

As the King, he may be expected to maintain the conservatism and steadiness for which the British royal house is distinguished.

Now that King Edward has abdicated, the European newspaper correspondents can go back to the Spanish war.

Memory: Fannie Brice singing "My Man" as police hunted Nicky Arnstein.

A few headless, weak chinned attempting playboyishness now and then try to fling away the tag ends of inheritance, but it's generally just for the night, and they are found sleeping it off under the table at dawn. Someone tells of a Chicagoan who spent $1000, won in a long shot at the races, a recent night. But he was a non-bibber himself and seemed pretty bored with the routine from No. 21 to Ed Morocco.

A roaming reporter discovers that on the site of DeMallister in Madison Square the hungry may now snaffle dime hamburgers, corned beef and beer. Most of this generation remember the Delmonico's on the avenue at 44th street. But the famous Dear Del's was in the square. Here Ward McAllister selected the holly-toy list that became "The 400." No restaurant before or since was so exclusive. If you didn't belong you were placed where you couldn't be seen—and the second rate food was ladled out in third rate service. Some could have a private dining room without chaperone. Not even the August Belmonts, who tried and failed. Yet Del's prices were not so high—a small steak 60 cents and a partridge 75 cents, for instance.

The passing of A. A. Aarons recently removed not only one of the staunch theatrical Titans of the past three decades but a nominating force in the great Klaw and Erlanger combine when the theater was theater. Aarons was also the basis of a famous off-repeated story. Some one called him on the phone. He answered with "This is A. A. Aarons speaking." He was asked who and repeated his name. He was asked to spell it and patiently began "A. A. Aarons." Said the voice at the other end: "Smart guy, eh? Well how'd you like to go to hell?"

There are still a few restaurants catering successfully to the upper and middle classes—the comfortable burger and the ermined swell. Luchow's on 14th street is an auspicious example. Barny, badly lit, it retains the dark timbered flavor of the days when Dreiser and Huxley foregathered hot-heads to right world wrongs. It has never attempted to put on the lug. A small and excellent orchestra specializes in the dreamy and waltz "Blue Danube" tunes. Dreiser still goes there. So do Mencken, Fannie Hurst, Frank Sullivan and almost every Sunday night Al Smith, his wife and a few friends occupy a corner table.

Final food thought: Ozarkian patios may be amusing but it often has euphony and cadence. A lady wins a recent meal there. After receiving her corn dodger the gravy bowl was handed her with a beaming: "Have some sop to lollap your dodger!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—There will be no change in the Republican leadership of the coming Congress.

Oregon's astute and popular Charles McNary will be re-elected party shepherd by the 17 Republicans in the senate. The 89 in the house will re-name Bertrand Snell of Potsdam, N. Y.

McNary's re-election will be unanimous—despite the resentment against him in some Republican quarters because of his coolness to Governor Landan.

Shortly after the election Senator Arthur Vandenberg, who has had his eye on the leadership for years, was reported to be secretly urging McNary's ouster. But the plan came to nothing, and Vandenberg is now busy assuring one and all that he is for McNary.

Vandenberg, incidentally, is due to suffer a bit of official pruning. With Republican representation in the senate at rock-bottom level, the party will have to relinquish places on most of the major committees. One of these is the senate foreign relations committee, on which Vandenberg is the junior Republican member.

This means that he will be dropped from the committee's roll—a severe blow to the Michigan senator, who loves to pose as an authority on foreign affairs. Also, he will sorely miss the invitations to diplomatic parties that go with membership on the committee.

In the house, there will be some opposition to Snell. But although he is not personally popular, and his bit toward keeping the matches American.

Joseph C. Grew, U. S. ambassador to Tokyo, has three daughters. The eldest, Lilla, is the wife of J. Pierpont Moffat, U. S. consul general at Sydney, Australia.

Second daughter, Anita, is the wife of Robert English, third secretary of the U. S. embassy in Paris.

Third daughter, Elizabeth, is the wife of Cecil B. Lyon, third secretary of the U. S. embassy at Peiping.

And just to make the family ties closer, son-in-law J. Pierpont Moffat has a sister, Elizabeth, who is the wife of John Campbell White, U. S. consul general at Calcutta.

EARLY BIRDS

The corridors of the house and senate are still dusty and silent, but the lobbying season is already in full swing.

One of these pre-season lobbying jobs is a secret attack by one governmental agency upon legislation sought by another. The federal trade commission is trying to put the skids under the pure food and drug bill sponsored by the food and drug administration.

Reason for the FTC's hostility is that the bill would take away its control of advertising and place it in the FDA.

The trade commission is pursuing a wily line in its fight against the measure.

Titular author of the FDA bill is Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the senate commerce committee. Capitalizing on the fact that the around, and then adjourn—having accomplished exactly nothing.

Dr. Townsend was aware that J. P. Morgan, called before such a committee, was not only treated deferentially, but was solicitedly asked if he desired to make a statement. The doctor was justified in assuming that he was entitled to ordinary courtesy. He left the committee room when denied the privilege of making a statement.

The committee may have adopted rules designed to exclude voluntary statements of witnesses; but the federal supreme court has held that it is the duty of a court to suspend its own rules, or to except a particular case from their operation, when the purposes of justice require it.

Obviously, Dr. Townsend and his pension plan were entitled to respectful treatment by the committee. He is of exalted character, and is of humanitarian impulses and his plan is praiseworthy and appeals to the intelligence and sympathies of the American people. There are not only seven or eight million unemployed now, with conditions almost normal, but there were nearly five million during alleged prosperity in 1928 and 1929, when industry was over-producing. Unemployment is a permanent condition, and must be met and solved. It is clearly wise to pension persons past 60 than to turn hundreds of thousands from the schools and universities each year without opportunity for employment.

It may be, of course, the Townsend plan will be modified before adoption. Perhaps there are Townsend followers who see no magic in the figures 200, would be satisfied with $100 monthly, and believe that amount more in harmony with the average wages of the employed, and who agree that pension funds may be properly raised by income taxes on profits due to resultant greater prosperity, as well as by sales taxes. The principal national income will continue to arise more than 40 million gainfully employed.

MORE EMERSONS?

By X REPORTER

And, I added, the high forms of civilization—notably the Roman—that dropped away into nothingness and left chiefly piles of stone to mark the place they fell, suffered their decline through over-standardization (bread and circuses provided by rulers too apathetic or too dumb to really lead).

Our own present civilization, highest in average that the world has ever known, has developed because there has been no shortage of individuals who have dared to try what men never tried before. And action is always based first on thinking.

Thinkers and doers. Sometimes they come in happy combination in one individual. But there must be no restraint upon either—not if our civilization is to lead to a higher one. Not if the standard is to be perpetually advanced.

Artificial restraints for acquisitiveness, yes. Many individuals need that. But no restraints on higher thinking, better doing.

More Emersons? Yes, a million times more—if that were possible.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Along with bonuses and other extra dividends now being declared by big business, and other sizes, Santa Ana friend displays with pardonable pride a check for 11 cents, designated as an extra distribution of accumulated funds on an investment he made long, long ago, which is still solvent, but slipping. So he just added to the Christmas cheer this 11 cents, and remarked, by way of suggestion, that if four cents more came through from other sources he would be able to celebrate, provided the hallelujah did not start until 3 o'clock.

I have commented so frequently about desert winds in this column, because we have had more of them than usual, that the impression has become prevalent that I do not like them. May I add that the community has the right impression?

Well, said the old sour bachelor when he heard that Edward VII was going to get married, "Go, save the king."

Individual Christmas trees are being set up, appropriately decorated and illuminated. They give a lot of joy to many people, and add to the spirit of the holiday season. I got a glimpse of one in the lobby of the Grand Central Apartments. It's a trifle early to put on the gifts, but I'll be back a little closer to the day of the great expectation to see what's on for "Skinny" if anything. This isn't intended as a suggestion. I just thought something should be said about it.

Midwest correspondent says the winter has "set in" with the usual fluore, and the aforesaid correspondent, to take on any more obligations, an investment in a railroad ticket, destination "California."

Arvid Mader, appropriately constructed to represent Santa Claus, has consented to appear before the Board of Directors of the Thursday morning in official capacity. Some jealous individual, void of a streamline figure, suggested that I might substitute for "Uncle Sam." That would make a good combination, but I understand "Sam" hasn't the budget balanced and heistlers to take on any more obligations. So Santa Claus will have the stage all to himself.

And from an authoritative source I DO learn that the wind coming along at a time of low humidity is to take on any more obligations to the health of the orange tree or the growth of the fruit. That's all I know about it. If you take a look at your grove you can probably determine how near right this opinion is.

As time rolls on, maybe the abdicated king will become just another citizen.

Don't let the toy-soldier incident interfere with your Christmas shopping. Santa Ana business men can supply you with any kind of a present you wish to give. You have to have the giving spirit. The merchandise is all right. As for the way, do you know that there are only 12 more shopping days until Christmas?

And it is Charley Overshiner who remembers away back when the year 1853, just like it has been blowing through the member and December of 1936. Similar conditions, says Charley. And then the following January, which in chronological order would be 1884, the rain came, and 36 inches of water fell before the winter season closed. So do not get discouraged. There is still a chance, historically speaking, of getting plenty of moisture. But, gee, I'm gettin' nervous.

Ted Kuchel called. Ted belongs to Anaheim. He does not know whether the visit had an ulterior purpose, but it is so near the holiday season I'm suspicious.

Boy Scouts, located at Third and Bush, are trying to replenish their exchequer by selling Christmas trees. I am not informed as to length and width and symmetry of the trees offered for sale, but I assume you can get what you want, and if you cannot there are other places where you can.

Quietly but effectively the Benevolent Protective Order Elks launches its charity work for the holiday season. The only reason for mentioning this benevolence at this time is to call attention of the membership, and any others who so desire, to the opportunity of contributing to the charity fund. This may be done by conferring with E. M. Majors, secretary of the order, says Harold Brown, chairman of the charity committee. All contributions, either in form of cash or in kind, will be distributed during the holiday season to deserving needy, in collaboration with other agencies whose mission is to help and encourage. This plan is adopted in order to prevent duplications. No individual publicity attends the bestowal of charity by the Elks club. If you are able and inclined, the Elks will welcome your assistance, and give careful and worthy consideration in the distribution of your contribution.
